WEATHER

Partly cloudy and mild today with a chance of showers. Today's high expected to be in the 70's.

MASON DENISON

Every time a governor announces a new economy drive, we have to dig deeper in our pockets for more tax money.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Cloudy skies and mild temperatures are forecast for today with little chance of rain and temperatures expected near 77 degrees. The over night low should be near 55 degrees. Sunrise today was at 6:59 a.m.; sunset will be at 7:33 p.m. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report: high 77 degrees, low 39 degrees; there was no precipitation recorded. The river level was 4.00 and rising.

Kinsua Dam Report

Pool level 1327.10 feet (desired summer pool level 1328; maximum 1365). Outflow temperature 64 degrees, upper reservoir 65 degrees. Reading at the Warren gauge 4.05 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

In a brief ceremony yesterday, conducted without benefit of speeches, the cornerstone for the multi-million dollar geriatrics complex at Warren State Hospital was slipped into place.

Over 100 volunteer workers swung into action last night for the 20th annual membership enrollment drive of the Warren Concert Association. This year's drive will last 10 days. Members must enroll before Sept. 23rd.

THE NATION

President Johnson received some good news from the U.S. insurance companies. The companies told him they were ready to invest $1 billion to develop real estate projects in ghetto areas. Most of the money will be used at first to develop housing. The President and his aides appeared jubilant at what they considered a major breakthrough in steering private capital into urban development.

Some of Gov. George Romney's most influential advisers are urging him to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President in about three weeks. This would be nearly three months ahead of schedule, representing a tactical shift to the offensive against President Johnson.

In testimony made public by the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, new shortcomings of the F-111 swing-wing airplane were disclosed. The shortcomings include excessive wind requirements for carrier use and compromises in combat range.

Archbishop William E. Cousins said that the Roman Catholic Church here was being "split into factions" over the city's continuing civil-rights demonstrations. He warned parishioners that a late campaign against the Rev. James E. Groppi ignored the priest's church-supported cause of "freedom and human dignity."

THE WORLD

The confiscation of the British diplomatic mission in Shanghai by Communist China was announced over Shanghai radio. It said the building was confiscated in a public ceremony "to satisfy the demands of the public and the needs for urban development in Shanghai."

The White House and the Pentagon sought to minimize differences between President Johnson and his Secretary for Defense Robert S. McNamara, over the most recent expansion of air attacks against North Viet Nam. Despite reports that McNamara objected to the recent expansion, White House press secretary George Christian insisted there was "general agreement" over targets.

Pope Paul VI is expected to undergo minor surgery within a week for relief of a prostate block of the urinary tract.

There were no changes in the race for the American League pennant yesterday as Minnesota, Boston and Detroit all recorded wins. In the senior circuit, Roberto Clemente took another step toward the batting crown by pounding out five hits in Pittsburgh's 11-3 romp of Cincinnati. Page A7.

THREATENS STEEL MOVEMENT

Truckers Strike Turns Violent

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gunfire and highway ambushes flared yesterday as a maverick Teamsters strike turned violent, and threatened to disrupt the movement of steel by truck through the Midwest.

Non-striking truckers hauling steel reported shots in the dark, slashed tires, highway ambushes and a big rig over a 30-foot embankment.

Steel warehouses here in the nation's steelmaking center were bottled up for the lack of trucks. Steel producers said the strike by drivers who own their own rigs was threatening operations.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, said pickets had a "disrupting effect" at its Irvin Works. The company said sheet and strip steel, much of it for the auto industry, was piling up at the plant because there were not enough trucks available.

The strike began in the Gary, Ind., area about three weeks ago and has now spread to several Midwest states. The drivers, many of them members of the Teamsters Union, use their own trucks to haul steel for trucking companies under a national contract between the union and the trucking industry.

Most of the violence was reported in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

Ohio State Police said a truck plunged over a 30-foot embankment on Ohio 7 near the Pennsylvania line, seriously injuring the driver, Charles E. Mahoney, 26, of New Matamore, Ohio. Troopers said the incident was connected with the strike, but did not elaborate.

Police escorted trucks from East Liverpool, Ohio, to the Crucible Steel Co. plant at Midland, Pa., after tires were shot out and windshields smashed by bricks thrown by gangs of men riding in cars.

Pope Paul May Need Operation

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI, who will be 70 years old in two weeks, may undergo surgery to correct what a Vatican informant described yesterday as an enlarged prostate gland. This ailment is not unusual for a man of his age.

The Pope's personal physician and two of Italy's most famous doctors raised the possibility of an operation after an examination yesterday.

They said the Pope had "improved notably" from an inflammation in the urinary system described as acute cystitis and that their present treatment, presumably doses of antibiotics, would be continued.

But they said they were "reserving the possibility of modifying the treatment with surgery to achieve the complete and definitive cure of the august patient."

The doctors did not say what kind of operation might be needed. But a source familiar with the diagnosis said the Pope was suffering from an enlarged prostate gland, which can cause inflammation in the urinary system.

The same source said the examination showed no evidence of cancer.

$1 Billion Pledged For Slum Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The life insurance industry promised President Johnson yesterday it will invest $1 billion of mortgage money in big city slums normally shunned by conservative lenders.

Johnson got the pledge from industry leaders at a White House meeting and praised them for making what he termed "a historic contribution to your country."

Concert Group to Seek New Members

Over one hundred volunteer workers swung into action last night for the 20th annual membership enrollment of the Warren Concert Association.

At a dessert meeting in the First Presbyterian Church the workers received information and materials for the solicitation of members for the 1967-1968 season.

Members, who must enroll before September 23, will hear four concerts, including the opening event of October 18th when Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians make their first local appearance.

Also announced for the season is a spring appearance of the Reyes Soler Ballet Espagnol de Madrid, a company of singers, dancers and musicians.

Two other concerts will be scheduled after the completion of the campaign.

Headquarters for the drive are upstairs at 220 Liberty st. The offices will be open starting next Monday, each day from 9 to 5 and on Friday evening, September 22 until 9 p.m.

Last night's meeting was in charge of the campaign co-chairmen, Mrs. Louis Conroy and Mrs. Francis Ericsson. The workers also heard from Harry Summers, association president.

Teams of workers are also canvassing Youngsville, Sheffield and Russell

Since the industry makes about $16 billion of investments each year, the diversion of $1 billion into slum projects represents a significant commitment.

So long as the money lasts, the industry program is expected to give a marked boost to efforts to improve slum housing.

The $1 billion is a one-shot commitment, however. The industry is taking a wait-and-see attitude toward the possibility of replenishing the kitty when the initial $1 billion is gone.

Insurance companies are making a financial sacrifice to launch the program, although their loans will be insured by the Federal Housing Administration. While they expect to make a profit on the loans, they will receive lower interest rates in some cases than they could collect if they invested the money in other ways.

Johnson, enthusiastic about the program, told insurance executives: "I hope we can start to announce the first projects under this plan—not within months or weeks, but within a few days."

Nearly 350 insurance companies are participating in the program, each contributing in proportion to its assets. The largest contributions—about $200 million each—will be made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

Although the federal government has a number of programs to insure mortgage loans in slum sections, little private money has been available for such loans because of reduced risk and higher interest rates in other areas.

Critics of Johnson's rent supplement program often have argued there was no need to authorize an ambitious program because of a shortage of private mortgage money to finance it. A portion of the insurance mortgage fund will go into rent supplement projects—a fact that conceivably might have an influence on Congressional attitudes.

Creation of the fund grew out of discussions between Secretary of Housing Robert C. Weaver and Gilbert Fitzhugh, chairman of Metropolitan Life and head of a newly created life insurance committee on urban problems.

Navy Test Pilots Say F111 Has 253 Faults

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy test pilots have reported the controversial F111B warplane is plagued by 253 deficiencies—including 100 they classify as "mandatory for correction," censored congressional testimony disclosed yesterday.

As of now, top Navy officials conceded, "the aircraft is extremely deficient in combat mission capability." They also agreed that the test pilots had concluded their reports by saying: "The F111B is unsuitable for service."

Transcripts of their testimony at a July 14 Appropriations subcommittee hearing, released Wednesday, confirmed the Pentagon is seeking a 1.75-million penalty against the contractor, General Dynamics Corp.

The F111 is a supersonic, swing-wing combat aircraft formerly known as the TFX, for tactical fighter, experimental. The Air Force version, the F111A, has been relatively trouble free and, sources say, may be deployed in Vietnam early next year.

But development of the Navy version, the F111B, is now 2½ years behind schedule, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul J. Nitze told the subcommittee. He blamed the lag on "inherent technical difficulties."

Pa. Draft Cal'

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's quota for the November draft call has been set at 1,130 men, the state Selective Service headquarters announced yesterday.

The nation draft call for November is 22,000 men, the announcement said.

T.M.O. GETS PHONY BILL

Warren area businessmen have been getting a lot of these apparent "bills" lately; yesterday this newspaper received one. It looks like a Yellow Pages bill, but the fine print at lower left says otherwise. . . If you read it before you've mailed a check.

SAYS THE WHITE HOUSE

'Agree' on Bombing Policy

WASHINGTON — The White House said yesterday that there continued to be "general agreement" within the administration on what targets should be bombed in North Vietnam.

George Christian, the White House press secretary, made the comment to newsmen in reply to questions about reported differences between President Johnson and the secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, over the recent bombing of targets at Haiphong and in the harbor of Campha.

The question of differences arose because of the apparent disparity between McNamara's testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee Aug. 25, in which he argued against hitting North Vietnam's three principal ports, and the air strikes on Campha Sunday and on Haiphong Tuesday.

The Pentagon denied a report in the Los Angeles Times that the port-area targets had been approved by Johnson despite the defense secretary's "strong objections."

However, officials refused to say specifically whether McNamara had been overruled or his recommendations overridden in whole or part in connection with the most recent port raids.

One defense official addressed the question this way:

"Mr. McNamara gets overruled by the President at least once a day and has for the past seven years. In this sense, at least: he goes over to the White House just about every day with some problem or other and makes a recommendation on each. If his recommendation is not fully accepted, then, I suppose, you can say he was 'overruled.'"

Observers said that the White House and the Pentagon appeared to be seeking to discount differences between the President and the Secretary of Defense on the air strikes.

Late in the day, Phil G. Goulding, the Pentagon's principal spokesman, denied a Scripps Howard newspaper report that the president had authorized the "round-the-clock" bombing of the port of Haiphong so long as foreign ships were not hit.

"No authority has been given to attack the port facilities of Haiphong," Goulding stated.

Another defense source asserted that the docks at Campha, the third largest deep water port in North Vietnam, were only the "alternate target" of Navy planes that struck there Sunday. Bad weather precluded their striking another target elsewhere in North Vietnam.

Pentagon officials declared that McNamara's public arguments against hitting the docks at Haiphong or mining its harbor continued to represent administration policy.

Johnson is known to have made clear to White House visitors last week that he was very much opposed to the bombing of the port of Haiphong.

CIVIC ORCHESTRA REHEARSES 'REQUIEM'

Warren Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Carl Stout, has begun rehearsal for a concert to be held at Warren Area High School Nov. 19. Here the string section goes over Mozart's

Aquatic Dog's Journey Comes to Happy Ending

By MARGARET WRIGHT

Dinah, an old hound dog, is back with her master, Henry Ewing of RD 1, Georgetown, Pa.

Last July, the Shurl Glass family in a small motor boat, saw something trying to swim to the west bank of Kinzua lake. This was in the deepest part of the lake. They finally rescued it, wrapped it in towels, and asking everyone camping along the shores, tried to find the owner. At the Marina, someone suggested the Humane Society.

While the Glass family fed the dog three meals a day, as it was skin-and-bones, the Humane Society tried to locate the owner, whose name was on the dog's collar. No one answered, finally the police were enlisted to help, and it was learned a Mr. Ewing of RD, Georgetown, Pa., owned the dog, but he was away for the summer.

The Humane Society got a message to a neighbor. Last week when Mr. Ewing came home from his camp near Marienville, Pa., a neighbor told him his dog was safe. Only waiting to unpack his car, he rushed to Warren, and the Glass family heard him shout while sweeping up their drive, "Dinah, Dinah, I never thought I'd see you again!"

Mr. Ewing told Shurl Glass that the dog had been missing two weeks before the Glass family found it. How it got from Marienville to Kinzua lake the dog knows but can't tell.

N. Viet Artillery Shoots over DMZ

By LEWIS B. SIMONS

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese artillery and mortars opened a heavy barrage across the demilitarized zone yesterday and were answered by a storm of fire from U.S. Marine gunners, planes and destroyers offshore.

Simultaneously, about 150 North Vietnamese behind an artillery barrage attacked the sandbagged Marine fortress of Con Thien, two miles south of the zone dividing Vietnam, and were hurled back.

In the artillery exchanges and

Poll Shows Reagan, Percy Tops

BOSTON (AP) — The Christian Science Monitor reported yesterday that a poll showed Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois as the leading contenders for the Republican vice presidential nomination next year.

Godfrey Sperling Jr., of the Monitor's Washington staff, basing the report on a survey of political leaders in the 50 states said the choice between the two men likely will depend upon the political coloring of the presidential nominee.

The poll showed Percy would be the choice if the presidential nominee was a conservative like Reagan or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Reagan would be the choice with moderates like Percy, Gov. George Romney of Michigan or Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Percy was favored for vice president in 14 states with 450 delegates and Reagan the choice in 13 states with 298 delegates.

But Sperling notes: "The fact that Sen. Percy is being given more mention for the vice-presidential spot than Gov. Reagan must be attributed, in large part, to the considerable support being given Reagan for the first spot on the ticket."

Deny Jamestown Request for Airport Money

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Samuel C. Alessi, chairman of the Municipal Airport Commission had the task yesterday of informing the commission that its request for 1.3 million dollars had been denied. Alessi said the Federal Aviation Agency cited lack of funds in its 1968 budget as the reason for the refusal.

The Airport Commission had filed the 1.3 million dollar request last April for projects at the Jamestown Municipal Airport that included widening and strengthening the runways, construction of taxi ways, and an access road and other work preliminary to the construction of a new terminal building. The widening and strengthening of the runways is necessary if the airport is to handle fan-jet aircraft.

Pilot Shortage Is Reported

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, Navy, Army and Marines all have a shortage of pilots—nearly 17,000 in all—and the deficit will continue well into the 1970s, a Senate Armed Services subcommittee reported last night.

The chief cause is the unexpected airpower demands of the Vietnam war, said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the group. Another cause given was the lure of higher paying and more comfortable jobs in commercial aviation.

All cockpit requirements at the battle front have been met, Stennis said, but he added this was accomplished by drastic actions which should have been unnecessary.

Shostakovich Breaks a Leg

MOSCOW (AP)—Composer Dimitri Shostakovich fell in a ditch recently and broke his leg, informed sources said yesterday.

The composer, 60, will be hospitalized for three months and will miss the London premier of his new violin concerto Oct. 28, the sources said.

Corps Opens Bids For Road Project

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh District, Corps of Engineers, opened bids yesterday for construction of access road to trash boom, Allegheny Reservoir, Allegheny River.

The apparent low bidder was Irvin T. Miller & Co. Inc., Burgettstown, Penna., with a bid of $36,693.90. The government estimate, which did not include profit, was $30,151.00.

It is expected that a contract will be awarded in the near future and the work will begin within a month.

China Opens Fire Again On Border AS SENATE ADJOURNS

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Ignoring an Indian request for a cease-fire, Red Chinese troops opened fire again yesterday on the border between Tibet and Sikkim and India's forces suffered more casualties, the Defense Ministry reported. It was the third day of fighting.

The spokesman said a 12-hour lull at Nathu Pass on the Himalayan border was broken early in the day when Chinese and Indian patrols clashed on the Sikkimese side of the border.

This was followed by a Chinese barrage of mortar and artillery fire that continued for three hours, the spokesman added. Firing then continued intermittently throughout the day.

While the spokesman gave no casualty figures, government sources indicated the Indian death toll since fighting broke out Monday now is 20. The Chinese claimed 36 of their border guards were killed or wounded in the first two days of fighting.

The Red barrage directed at Con Thien and other strong points was met with Marine fire directed by radar, spotter planes and ground observers.

Pa. Tax Bills Set for Vote

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate moved $128 million in tax bills on cigarettes and corporate net incomes yesterday into a position for a final vote and then adjourned until next week when the showdown may take place.

The House, which had approved the tax measures two weeks ago, adjourned Tuesday. Both Republican-controlled chambers will return Monday.

During its solo session, the Senate also insisted on its amendments to two House-passed civil rights bills. This action threw the two measures into a legislative conference committee for a compromise.

One bill would extend the fair employment law while the other measure would ban discrimination in the sale of owner-occupied houses.

Gov. Shafer is on a trade mission in Europe and is not scheduled to return to Harrisburg until Thursday of next week.

But in light of the tax hassle, a staff member said the possibility of requesting Shafer to return earlier was being considered.

Speaking of the tax measures, Senate Majority leader Stanley G. Stroup said, "We intend to have a final vote Monday. I think we will have 26 votes."

It takes 26 votes to pass a bill in the Senate and that is the exact number of Republicans in the chamber.

"If he's going to roll the bills Monday, he'd better have 26 Republican votes," countered Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline, who stated that all 20 Democrats are in opposition to the tax bills.

Pending Senate tax action, the House is marking time on sundry other business, including consumer taxes designed to

Appalachia Aid Is Before House

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Reversing their previous stand against aid to Appalachia, House Republican leaders said yesterday they would support an extension of the program.

However, they said they would seek a sharp curtailment in authorized funds for the program because of the "fiscal crisis and mounting war costs."

The Republican leadership stand virtually assured passage, probably late today, of a bill to extend the program of federal aid to the economically depressed Appalachian region, stretching from the southern tier of western New York to Northern Alabama.

Less certain, however, is whether the bill will emerge from the House unchanged.

In opening debate yesterday, Republicans and Democrats alike announced they would seek to amend the bill.

Shafer to Discuss State Aid to Parochial Schools

HARRISBURG (AP) — Eight Roman Catholic prelates, including John Cardinal Krol of Philadelphia, have been invited to a meeting in Harrisburg with Gov. Shafer to discuss the critical question of state aid to non-public schools.

The invitation was cabled by Shafer from Europe, where the chief executive is in the midst of a two-week industrial promotion tour.

"The governor wants to make certain the position of the administration is clear on this issue," an aide said yesterday.

No date has been set for the meeting, although it is expected to be scheduled shortly after Shafer's return to the capital.

Rep. Martin P. Muller, D-Philadelphia, a Catholic, has proposed the establishment of a non-public School Authority to reimburse private and parochial schools for their secular education program.

The chief executive has repeatedly refused to take a public position on the issue until the four-month legislative fight over taxes and his budget has been settled.

Optimistic Notes Sounded In Teacher Negotiations

A week-long teachers strike in Broward County, Fla., ended yesterday, and optimistic notes were sounded in negotiations to settle teacher walkouts that have crippled the giant New York and Detroit school systems.

But in Houston, Tex., Providence, R.I., and 18 Michigan counties, school disputes dragged on with no end in sight.

And in New York, the teachers' union, while talking hopefully of negotiations, continued to defy the courts.

Working against the ultimatum of a court injunction to reopen schools, Broward County teachers and school board officials accepted a compromise salary offer that would boost starting pay to $5,600. The teachers had asked $5,650 and turned down a school board offer of $5,508.

The county's 90,000 public school youngsters were told to report to class Thursday morning after both sides announced a compromise had been worked out in conference with Circuit Court Judge L. Clayton Nance, who had issued the ultimatum.

In New York, behind the scenes negotiations were reported under way to end a three-day walkout that has disrupted classes for the city's 1.1 million public school youngsters.

At one point, Albert Shanker, president of the striking 49,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, said "something may happen soon."

However, a State Supreme Court justice, after a vain effort at peacemaking, issued a temporary injunction prohibiting a continuation of the strike. The union ignored another antistrike order when it launched the walkout Monday—and a union leader said this one would be defied, also.

In Detroit, negotiators for the city's 11,000 striking teachers and the Board of Education were looking to a two-year contract as a possible solution to the dispute that has kept 300,000 youngsters out of classes since last Wednesday.

But Mary Ellen Riordan, president of the Detroit Federation of Teachers, warned: "Any two-year contract would have to be fair to both sides."

Observers believed a two-year contract would give the school board time to keep its promises to voters for new classrooms and grant teachers a pay hike in two steps.

In Michigan, teachers in three school districts were working under court injunction. In Flint's Beecher district, where a similar order was being sought, 220 teachers threatened to resign en masse. The Beecher school board, which had planned to seek an injunction, ordered any action withheld until Thursday.

Several of the marches, which were marked by violence, have been to the all-white, largely Polish and Catholic south side of Wisconsin's largest city.

Tuesday night several hundred angry counterdemonstrators marched to the archbishop's residence, some bearing a cardboard coffin lettered "God is White" and "Father Groppi Rest in Hell" and demanded that the young priest be disciplined.

The archbishop told six representatives of the screaming crowd that he would consider their complaints. By that time the statement he made yesterday had already been prepared for publication as an editorial in the Catholic Herald Citizen, the archdiocesan weekly.

The Herald Citizen said it was the first time in its 97-year history that an archbishop had addressed his people in an editorial.

REQUEST FATHER GROPP'S TRANSFER

Father James E. Groppi (at left) Roman Catholic priest and advisor to the Milwaukee NAACP, is the center of controversy in the city's racial situation. White marchers Tuesday night bore a black casket (above) with an anti-Groppi sign. They were persuaded not to go into the city's core area, and marched instead to the home of Archbishop William Cousins, where they requested that Father Groppi be transferred elsewhere. The priest has been leading Negro marchers who want an open-housing law for the city. The white marchers' signs Tuesday reflected such sentiments as "Father Groppi REST IN HELL!" "You know we're right, cause we're WHITE" (above), "I hate Groppi," and "The only good nigger is a DEAD nigger" (at left). Residents of Milwaukee's south side, where the whites' march started, are predominantly of Polish extraction.

PRESSURES 'BEYOND BELIEF'

Church Splits on Groppi

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

MILWAUKEE — Archbishop William E. Cousins declared his support yesterday of the Rev. James E. Groppi in his controversial campaign for open housing legislation in Wisconsin's largest city.

Cousins said the Roman Catholic Church here was being split into factions "over Milwaukee's continuing civil rights demonstrations, with many opponents leaving the church or withdrawing financial support."

The archbishop, spiritual head of 700,000 Catholics in the 10-county Milwaukee archdiocese, warned parishioners that a hate campaign against the Rev. James E. Groppi ignored the priest's church-supported cause of "freedom and human dignity."

Demands that the archbishop transfer or remove Father Groppi, leader of repeated open housing demonstrations, from his post as assistant pastor at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church in the Negro ghetto of Milwaukee have increased sharply since nightly marches began 17 days ago.

Several of the marches, which were marked by violence, have been to the all-white, largely Polish and Catholic south side of Wisconsin's largest city.

Tuesday night several hundred angry counterdemonstrators marched to the archbishop's residence, some bearing a cardboard coffin lettered "God is White" and "Father Groppi Rest in Hell" and demanded that the young priest be disciplined.

The archbishop told six representatives of the screaming crowd that he would consider their complaints. By that time the statement he made yesterday had already been prepared for publication as an editorial in the Catholic Herald Citizen, the archdiocesan weekly.

The Herald Citizen said it was the first time in its 97-year history that an archbishop had addressed his people in an editorial.

"Do I agree with everything that Father Groppi has said and done?" the archbishop wrote, "I certainly do not."

But he added that "we are being diverted by emotion and mob psychology into fighting a straw figure while the real enemy goes unscathed."

Father Groppi daily denounced Mayor Henry W. Maier and the city's common (city) council for refusing to enact an open housing ordinance. He vowed at a news conference again yesterday to continue marches by the Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here, which he advises, until a law is passed.

The priest is an outspoken advocate of meeting violence with violence as a meeting of self-defense. Reminded that Maier said Tuesday that the marches may be curtailed, Father Groppi said that if Negroes were denied the right of protest "then I say we have a right to the brick."

"People are so disturbed by his actions that they lose sight of the cause for which he is fighting," the archbishop said, "that of freedom and human dignity. As Christians we favor the same just cause."

Cousins wrote that the pressures on him to clamp down on the priest "are beyond belief."

He said that "the church is being split into factions," and that some Catholics had left the church and "others have withdrawn or threatened to withdraw financial support from . . . all church causes."

He said he had been condemned in letters from parishioners as "cowardly," "stupid," "blind" and "weak."

Many religious organizations have praised the archbishop as "courageous" for taking no action on past demands for the ouster of Father Groppi.

Yesterday the priest said he was encouraged by reports from the National Council of Churches that supporters from all over the country would arrive during the weekend to join in the open housing demonstrations.

Among the organizations here that have supported the NAACP drive for fair housing are the League of Women Voters, the Greater Milwaukee Council of Churches and a newly organized group of about 100 south side residents called the South Side Committee for Equal Rights in Milwaukee. Both of the city's daily newspapers are calling for open housing legislation.

Increasing pressure from the business community for action to end the city's racial strife is also developing. Kenneth E. Fry, the mayor's director of economic development, warned Tuesday that rioting and demonstrations in the last six weeks was costing Milwaukee millions of dollars and serious damage to its reputation.

But there is no indication that the 18 to 1 margin against open housing legislation in the common council, firmly established in recent votes, is changing.

Pa. Highway Secretary Urges Toll Road Research

HARRISBURG (AP) — Robert G. Bartlett, state secretary of highways, said Wednesday that more and more states are constructing toll roads and bridges to raise money for highway construction and that Pennsylvania should carefully investigate the possibility of doing the same thing.

However, he emphasized that he and the State Highway Commission were not endorsing toll financing.

"We want the commission to become knowledgeable about using tolls to raise money," he said. "It is part of our program of seeking out new financing approaches."

Bartlett made the remarks after Gerry Drake, a representative of Wilbur Smith and Associates, told a commission meeting that about $25 million a year could be raised by applying tolls to "a limited number of carefully selected" highway projects in the state.

Wilbur Smith, a New Haven, Conn. research company, was authorized by the commission last year to study the feasibility of using toll financing.

The state has only one toll road — The Pennsylvania Turnpike. Motor clubs and some legislators have traditionally opposed building more toll roads.

However, because of rising costs and an expanding highway construction program, it is becoming more and more difficult to raise the needed money through existing sources.

Recently, in an effort to get more highway funds, the commission recommended that the legislature increase registrations for passenger cars from $10 to $20 a year and increase commercial vehicle registrations by about 50 per cent.

Wilbur Smith also studied the feasibility of using tolls to finance four proposed road projects worth more than $400 million. They are:

- The Oakland Crosstown Freeway, part of a highway around central Pittsburgh.
- The Tacony Creek and Northeast Freeway in Philadelphia.
- The Kittanning-Ford City Bypass in Armstrong County.
- A relocation of U.S. 30 in York and Lancaster Counties.

The Smith report said that none of the projects could be financed completely by instituting tolls on them.

However, the report said that "very substantial revenues could be derived from the operation of each of these facilities as a toll road."

The commission took no immediate action on the report, but Bartlett said it would be studied carefully.

Free Enterprise Day

Just about every day of the year has been set aside for observance of an event, an institution or a notable figure in the nation's history. A day of this kind is scheduled on the calendar for October 2--an occasion that not one person in a thousand will note or will be aware of. In the catalog of "days," October 2 is identified simply as Free Enterprise Day, whose purpose is: "To show appreciation of America's Free Enterprise System, by reminding ourselves of its benefits and pledging its continued support."

We have all heard the term free enterprise, but in this day of super-government, high taxes, crushing public debt and detailed regulations of nearly every human activity, free enterprise has lost much of its meaning. It has ceased to exist in the pure traditional sense and sadly enough

Is It a Revolution?

Staughton Lynd of Yale University is assistant professor of radicalism, in pursuit of a first-hand knowledge of which, you will remember, he went off to Hanoi eighteen months ago and moped his solidarity with the Communists there, returning to Yale to display proudly all the new hair on his revolutionary chest. Since then he has been granted a leave of absence by Yale.

Meanwhile Lynd continues busy polemicalizing, and most recently has advanced solemnly the doctrine (in the New York Times Sunday Magazine, on September 10) that the kind of thing we have seen in Detroit and Newark and Los Angeles is really okay, that it is the kind of activity sanctioned implicitly by John Locke, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, and Norman Vincent Peale. The thing of it is, (he explains), what is happening is not "riots"--they are vulgar and unjustified--but "rebellions". And everybody acknowledges that rebellions are okay when positive law clashes with transcendent law, otherwise you get Eichmann, see?

Was Romney Brainwashed?

WASHINGTON — It is not being publicized at the moment, but Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara will soon announce a plan to build a "wall" around Gov. George Romney. McNamara hopes the new barrier, which will consist of concrete denials, barbed wire stories and electronic monitoring devices, will slow down Romney's attacks on the Johnson Administration's Vietnam policies.

An Administration spokesman told me, "Romney has been laying down a barrage of false charges against the President and the secretary of defense, and he's been infiltrating the American electorate. We have no choice but to fire back."

"What about Romney's charges that he was brainwashed in Vietnam?"

"Everyone knows that it is a violation of the Geneva Convention to brainwash a governor of the United States, All we've ever asked of a politician who visited Vietnam was his name, his rank and his serial number."

"But Romney said that he was brainwashed in Saigon two years ago by some very experienced people."

"That's just Republican propaganda. We're willing to open our briefings to the International Red Cross at any time to prove that we treat Republican presidential candidates humanely and in accordance with the articles of war."

"Is it not possible that an overzealous interrogator in Saigon might use methods that the White House does not know about or approve of?"

"There is that possibility, but we've investigated the Romney case thoroughly and both Gen. Westmoreland and former Ambassador Lodge swear they never laid a finger on him."

"But aren't there more subtle ways of brainwashing somebody without touching him?"

"I suppose so. But the Johnson Administration would never stoop to any of these. If we can't win over the opposition with the truth, then we feel we should resign."

because of that, basic liberties have been circumscribed to a far greater extent than most of us realize. In fact, many writers and commentators shy away from the expression "free enterprise," because they feel it has become meaningless.

Free enterprise is far from meaningless. It is inseparable from representative government. Officially, it is defined by Webster as "an economic system in which primary reliance is placed upon private business operating in competitive markets to satisfy consumer demands and to maintain equilibrium in the national economy and in which government action in this respect is restricted to protecting the rights of individuals rather than acting as a directing economic force." Thus, Free Enterprise Day holds genuine meaning for all of us.

Beasts Who Outwitted Princeton

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Someone at Princeton raised a question. Can the tenrec on faraway Madagascar, he asked, hear its own noise?

Into the knowledge breach sprang science, trailing electrodes. Give us the tenrecs, it said, and we will give you the answer.

A tenrec, believe it or not, is a small furred beast with a quilled back. You can look it up. By rubbing its quills together it produces a noise in the range of 25,000 to 40,000 cycles per second, which is a lot more cycles than the human ear can detect. The question was whether the tenrec could hear them and if so, for that matter, if not so what?

Twenty tenrecs were exported to New Jersey from their Madagascar habitat, and to make a dull story short, they refused to cooperate. Some died of the Jersey cold. Others died when scientists tried to implant electrodes that would reveal whether they could hear their quill rubbings. All emitted an unpleasant odor, and those that survived to undergo food deprivation and mild electric-shock experiments merely convinced the scientists that tenrecs have no desire to cooperate with science.

The psychologists who conducted the study concluded only that the tenrec is a "uniquely frustrating" laboratory animal.

There is a graver conclusion to be drawn, however. In his losing encounter with the stupid malodorous tenrec, man has suffered a serious loss of face.

Imagine the embarrassment, if tenrecs could talk, of walking into a barroom frequented by tenrecs and being subjected to the banter that would result from this experiment. "Hey, Jack, it's one of those humans who want to know if we can hear our own noises." "With all that soap, grease, alcohol and aerosol-bomb spray on him he smells like a chemical factory. Maybe he'd like us to give him some mild electric-shock treatment to find if he can sniff his own smells."

Fortunately, tenrecs cannot talk, though this makes man's humiliation worse in one way. Here are these beasts that are too dumb even to talk, yet they instinctively sense the dangers of co-operating with science. "Come across with the information about those quill noises," science commanded them. And their mute answer was "not on your life."

Even in their primeval stupidity, they were capable of sensing the consequences of spilling the beans. In all likelihood, they knew the knowledge would be used to help tenrec exterminators destroy them. At best, it would have made them valuable as secret weapons and resulted in their being sent to a miserable and dangerous life in Vietnam.

The example of their refusal to talk is a mockery of every man who has never been able to resist the electrode, the laboratory camera, the deprivation experiment or the voice on the telephone asking, "do you have your television set turned on?"

Worst of all, however, their example forces us to ponder our habit of pursuing the trivial by skirting the monumental. The question we should obviously be worrying about is not whether tenrecs hear their own noise, but whether we hear ours and, if so, what the consequences are.

The jackhammer, the rivet gun, the disk jockey, the jet engine, the telephone bell, tortured tires--is it true that we are able not to hear them? And if we do not, what device deadens the din? The suicidal cigarette? Mental fragmentation? Alcohol or psychotropic narcotics? Creeping schizophrenia?

These, surely, are questions that a man should be willing to undergo electrode implantation and food deprivation to have answered. Or should he? What would the answers be used for? Should science find that we pay a terrible price in physical degeneration for not hearing our own noises, it is unlikely that significant amounts of this noise would therefore be eliminated. Too much of it is an essential byproduct of the economy and therefore justifiable, as proponents of the supersonic jet with its awful sonic booms contend, to keep the country abreast of progress.

All we should have would be another depressing scientific assurance that the world we have built ourselves is an unhealthy place to live in. In the end, the knowledge could have only military application, perhaps through development of saturation noise transmitters capable of inducing utter and abject wilderness.

The tenrecs know.

The Man at the Mantelpiece

WASHINGTON—A man stood in front of the mantle in the state dining room of the White House, where other Presidents have stood since the days of John Adams, proposing toasts, addressing guests down through the years of American history.

This man was graying a bit, a bit worn from the cares of office, a bit gawky, impassioned, sincere, determined. He did not look as suave as some of the Harvard men who had stood there before him, but more like Jackson, whose Tennessee friends had scuffed the East Room floor with their muddy boots.

This man was talking not to Tennesseans, or Texas countrymen, but to highly sophisticated opinion-makers—publishers, editors, commentators, a sprinkling of Cabinet members, mayors, governors, some of them just back from viewing an election in Southeast Asia. The man in front of them was answering questions about what was happening in Southeast Asia, what was going to happen, and how the United States could get out of the predicament in which it is involved, yet get out with honor, stability and peace. The questions were tough, sometimes complicated, and the answers sometimes a bit too long. But the feeling of sincerity came through.

Here was a man trying desperately to solve a problem which kept him awake nights, which had aged him ten years in four, a problem which he had inherited, which the French had found insoluble and which perhaps we would find insoluble. The man was not ready to admit this, however—certainly not to this group of opinion-makers, perhaps not even in his own heart.

You could feel his worry as he talked. You could sense his concern over the bombing pauses and the fact that more troops, more supplies, more armament rushed south during those pauses. Yet he needed pauses in order to explore peace, and had to balance off the loss of a few lives against the hope of saving many lives by exploring for peace.

Tough decisions had to be made, as tough as those made by another man, also gawky—his critics said he was uncouth—who also stood in front of that mantelpiece worrying over an earlier war that split the nation.

Looking at that mantelpiece, at the stately chandeliers and the portraits of other Presidents, you could almost see a train of history rolling behind them. The man referred to some of this history as he talked—the dissension of past wars, the critics who wanted Madison to abandon the War of 1812, those who poured abuse on Lincoln in the Civil War, the critics of Wilson in World War I. You could tell that the man felt his own current criticism deeply.

There was more recent history which he did not allude to but which most of those who listened knew about. It had begun with the Korean truce in 1953, a truce which was polished up as an Eisenhower victory at home but received by gloating orientals as the white man's first defeat abroad.

Immediately after the truce the Cabinet began discussing a stand in Southeast Asia to block the southward march of Red China. Chinese troops released by the Korean victory would now move south, and the Eisenhower cabinet was concerned that the French, fighting desperately to hold Southeast Asia, would not be able to withstand the Chinese advance.

President Eisenhower himself voiced this fear in a speech before the governors conference in Seattle in the summer of 1953. He stressed the importance of the Kra Peninsula. Few Americans had ever heard of the Kra Peninsula, but their President said that if it fell all that lay beyond—Burma, India, Indonesia, most of Asia—would fall to China.

The American public didn't really understand what it was all about, but the Cabinet did, and went ahead with plans to make a stand. Finally it was decided to make the stand in Indo-China by sending troops to rescue the French in the battle of Dien Bien Phu.

There was dissension. Charley Wilson, then Secretary of Defense, was opposed; also George Humphrey, then Secretary of the Treasury; also the Army, then led by Gen. Matt Ridgway, who had relieved MacArthur in Korea and knew what it was like to fight on Asian soil.

But Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was determined. We should not avoid, but seek out a confrontation with China, he argued. The atomic bomb would be used if necessary. Ike finally concurred.

Then an over-eager Nixon spilled the beans to the American Society of Newspaper Editors dinner in April 1954. Public reaction was sour. Eisenhower changed his mind. The plan for a confrontation with China was called off. Instead, Dulles negotiated the SEATO pact, a political alliance of nations involved in Southeast Asia. But while our Senate ratified this pact with only one dissenting vote, the French and British, wiser in the problems of the orient, refused to guarantee the future of the new countries carved out of French Indo-China. We, however, in the second year of the Eisenhower administration, officially took on the task.

Thus did the train of history roll back behind the man standing in front of the mantelpiece. He did not talk of this history. He talked of bombing pauses, of Russian hopes of securing peace if there was a bombing pause, hopes that did not materialize. He talked of hopes for the newly-elected government; the headaches, the heartaches, the problems of war. Through it all you could feel the sincerity, the worry, the distress. His listeners could understand why when one editor asked whether he would run again in 1968, the man in front of the mantelpiece said he would cross that bridge when he came to it. He hadn't yet made up his mind.

SYLVIA PORTER

New GI Package

On Oct. 1 a gigantic new package of veterans' benefits, just signed into law by President Johnson, will go into effect. The package will directly affect nearly 26 million U. S. veterans. It also will affect, at least indirectly, close to half the U. S. population—since millions of veterans' wives, widows and children already share in a wide range of benefits.

Here is how the key new benefits under the Veterans' Pension and Readjustment Act of 1967 could affect YOU:

+ If you are among the 1.8 million who have served in the U. S. armed forces during the period since Aug. 5, 1964, the official starting date of the Vietnam war, you'll now be eligible for full disability compensation and future pensions based on need.

This is in addition to special medical care benefits for severely disabled veterans now on the pension rolls. Wives and children of servicemen killed in the Vietnam war will be eligible for full widows' benefits as well.

+ If you, as a serviceman who has served during the period after Jan. 31, 1955, lost a limb or the use of part of your eyesight, you will be eligible for an allowance of $1,600 toward the purchase of a specially-equipped car.

+ If you are among the 2.8 million disabled veterans and their dependents now receiving pensions, the benefit checks you'll receive early in November will be upped by an average of 5.4 per cent.

+ If you are a veteran planning to take out a home loan to build a new home in an area where building costs are especially high, the new limit for the amount of the VA-guaranteed loan will be $25,000 vs. $17,500. And the final cutoff date for VA loan applications has now been pushed ahead from July 25, 1967 to July 25, 1970.

+ If you are a veteran entering college this fall under the new "GI bill" or if you are already enrolled in college, you'll find your monthly educational benefit check upped by about $30. For the single veteran, this monthly benefit will rise from today's $100 to $130. For the married veteran with one child it will rise from $150 to $175, plus $10 for each additional child.

+ If you plan to get your job training on the job instead of in a school or college, you'll now be eligible, as a single veteran, for $80 a month in benefits for the first six months of training, $60 a month for the next six months, and smaller amounts for training periods lasting up to two or more years. These benefits are higher for married veterans.

The total cost of the whole package of new veterans' benefits is "virtually beyond calculation," according to a spokesman for the Veterans' Administration, but the first year cost is estimated at $286 million, to be paid for out of this year's $6.7 billion budget for veterans' benefits of all kinds.

A full $164 million of the new package is slated for new educational benefits, though. As an indication of the return we can expect from this investment, it's estimated that the $21 billion the U.S. invested in the World War II and Korean GI bills will return to the U. S. Treasury a total of $60 billion in added Federal income taxes. The estimate is that the 10.2 million veterans who studied under the first two GI bills now earn a full 30 per cent more than non-veterans.

But, to me, the most stunning and economically potent fact is the extent to which war is being translated into education today. This fiscal year alone, 600,000 veterans completing their tours of military duty will be enrolled in U. S. colleges and universities under the Cold War GI bill.

MASON DENISON

More Such Economy And . . .

HARRISBURG—"Every time a Governor announces a new economy drive," a Senator was saying on Capitol Hill, "it seems as though we have to dig deeper in our pockets for more tax money."

He was pointing up the inconsistency between what Governor Shafer has been saying, as far as economy in the government is concerned, and what he is doing. This inconsistency has not gone unnoticed by his own party leaders in the State Senate, who have asked for an examination of the entire spending process, including the hiring of large numbers of new employees.

The Governor's latest economy statement came the other day as he signed the record-setting $1.46 billion General Fund appropriations bill. This time he "saved" the state $18 million—an amount nowhere reflected in a budgetary decrease.

It is ironic that $18 million—the amount of savings the Governor was referring to—was exactly the amount legislative Democrats tried to cut his General Fund budget by. His House Leader, the late Lee A. Donaldson, of Pittsburgh, pooh-poohed the cuts as "insignificant" as the Republicans voted down each and every one of them.

(Perhaps, the importance of an $18 million saving depends on just whose publicity horn is blaring.)

The bill was signed the same day other appropriations bills were moving through the House. Democrats have proposed to cut $9 million from these bills, including $2.7 million from the "closed school subsidy." The Republicans decided to move only one of the controversial bills and that one was the closed school subsidy bill, which gives local school districts $200 for schools closed as long ago as 1911.

Everybody agrees the provision was made out-moded by the new school subsidies, but rural areas still cling to it because—after all—it is money. And it is money that doesn't have to be obtained from local taxpayers. This bill went through right on schedule and it seems probable that Governor Shafer will sign it into law, too.

Now Representative Milton Berkes, of Levittown, is readying a bill to end what he terms "a senseless waste of the taxpayers' money."

Mr. Shafer went on his first economy drive the day after he took office by freezing all jobs and ordering a hold-down on other expenditures. At the time, the projected need for new taxes was $200 million and the number of state employees was 93,000.

The "freeze" did not effect some employees. Raises went to the Governor's Press Secretary and his special assistant while his secretary and legislative secretary both received more pay than their predecessors had been receiving after four years on the job.

In June, the Governor announced that he had saved $8.2 million by abolishing 1375 positions—all of which had been vacant for more than six months.

By then the state payroll had topped the 100,000 mark and the Governor said he needed $267 million in new taxes.

When the Democratic party refused to go along with the taxes, the Governor ordered another hold down in spending.

With all of this saving going on, tax needs seemingly have been going down. And with the job freeze, the number of state employees seemingly should have been getting less and less.

But now the Governor says he needs $300 million in new taxes and we have more than 102,000 employees on the state payroll, and increases totaling more than $15 million have been given to selected employees.

To paraphrase a Roman Senator talking about the pyrrhic victories being scored by a general: "More such economy and we are certainly doomed to higher taxes."

JOSEPH ALSOP

Israel's Real Danger?

HERZLIYA, Israel — "If you ask me to choose between the great risks confronting our country, I say safety first. The security border of Israel must be the Jordan River."

Such was the climax of a long conversation with Israel's aging, amiable, expansive prime minister, Levi Eshkol. It was all the more significant because the prime minister and his great ally, former Foreign Minister Golda Meir, used to be the loudest proponents of the thesis that Israel would have no meaning if Israel ceased to be a mainly Jewish state.

Alsop

Furthermore, Eshkol said on television at the beginning of the six-day war that Israel wanted no additional territory. From no new territory at all, to "Jerusalem, of course!" to "minor rectifications" of the admittedly lunatic former western border, to a "security border" on the Jordan River—it has gone very far and very fast!

If the far from hawkish Eshkol takes this position, moreover, it should be plain that all sorts of assumptions still being blandly made in the rest of the world, including the U.S. State Department, lack any solid foundation. Mere formal "nonbelligerence" with the Arabs and guarantees about such matters as navigation through the Straits of Tiran and the Suez Canal are no longer going to satisfy Israel.

That is the inescapable conclusion that has to be drawn from what may be called the strictly political part of this visit of inquiry. Scores of conversations with all sorts of different people, including most of Israel's present leaders, culminated in the long talk with the prime minister in this pleasant little vacation resort.

He was not, it has to be admitted, overly eager to face or talk about the huge and ominous fact that automatically becomes centrally important if Israel's "security border" is the Jordan. He talked eloquently, but not very realistically, about such hopeful but wholly impossible projects as the revival of the late Eric Johnson's scheme for regional collaboration on water and other matters between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Eshkol was eloquent, too, on Israel's past, on King Hussein's mistake in entering the six-day war and on many other topics. But he rather plainly did not much relish exploring the implications of the absorption, or at least partial absorption, into Israel of another million Arabs, in addition to the 300,000 Arabs who already are Israeli citizens with full voting rights. And that will be the result of a frontier on the Jordan.

The government statisticians, as the prime minister admitted, already have warned that this kind of addition of Arab population, with the higher Arab birth rate, will give Israel an actual Arab majority within a bit more than a decade. For this very reason, as Eshkol also admitted, almost no one in Israel is willing to consider giving members of the new Arab population the same status as "the Israel Arabs."

As Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defense minister, pointed out to me, the Gaza Strip is a special problem, which Israel is handling far more decently than Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Egyptians ever thought of doing. The crux is the West Bank of the Jordan, with its total population of around 600,000 Arabs. If Israel's "security border" is to be the Jordan, that means something like a protectorate on the West Bank. When this was pointed out to the prime minister, he exclaimed: "Protectorate, protectorate! I'm not protecting them; I'm protecting myself!"

A reminder that this was always the purpose of all "protecting" powers made him roar with laughter. Yet he did not laugh—indeed, he became suddenly somber—when the terrible alternative risks now facing Israel were under discussion.

The truth is that Israel must now make the most painful choice that any nation in our time has had to make. On the one hand, there are the positions on the West Bank from which enemy guns commanded Tel Aviv itself. To go back to the old Israel, with its vulnerable narrow waist, is unbearable for most Israelis, whatever their prime minister said incidentally with the backing of David Ben-Gurion about no more territory on the war's first day. Yet holding down a huge Arab population, with no rights except the right of local self-government, will create in Israel it must be squarely, brutally faced—something perilously like the relations between the races in Rhodesia.

"The risks confronting our country" that Eshkol was talking about were therefore, on the one hand, the grave security risk of retreating to somewhere

OF U.S. LABOR FORCE

War Jobs Total 10 Per Cent

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The escalation of the Vietnam war created more than one million U.S. jobs in the past two years, the Labor Department said yesterday in the first such comprehensive report since the war began.

The sharp rise in employment due to the military buildup amounted to some 23 percent of the total increase of more than four million jobs in the U.S. economy since 1965, the report said.

A further expansion of war work could create shortages of skilled workers of "considerable magnitude," said a companion report.

Defense work now accounts for 5.2 per cent of the nation's total civilian employment, up from 3.3 per cent two years ago. But "this should not be interpreted to mean that one million jobs would be lost if the conflict in Vietnam were to end," said Richard P. Oliver of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

A switch of workers to production of civilian goods, the timing of cuts in military expenditures and federal manpower policies would cushion a drop in war work if the conflict ended, Oliver said in the report published in the monthly Labor Review.

The report said civilian jobs in defense work rose from about 1 million in 1965 to nearly 2 million near the old frontiers and, on the other hand, the equally terrible risk of a future national development poisoned by the existence of something like a Spartan-Helot relationship within Israel's borders.

3 million to 4.1 million the past two years, with sharpest increases in the weapons, aircraft and communications equipment industries.

During the same period, Oliver said, the number of military personnel rose from 2.7 million to 3.4 million.

In a companion report, the bureau's mobilization expert, Max A. Rutnick, said about 16 per cent of all the nation's engineers are in defense work and some 22 per cent of electrical and electronic technicians. War work also takes up 14 per cent of all draftsmen, he said.

Oliver said the two-year Vietnam buildup created no general labor shortages, "although temporary problems did exist in some cases."

Rutnick said defense workers are more skilled than U.S. workers as a whole and "a continued climb in demand could create shortages of considerable magnitude among these workers who require both special aptitudes and lengthy training."

GOP, Demos Split on Antipoverty Programs

WASHINGTON — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee reported to the Senate yesterday that the anti-poverty program should be continued, but there was deep partisan disagreement on how.

The committee majority, headed by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said the nation had not yet committed sufficient resources to deal adequately with poverty.

It said that although there was a "lack of sufficient coordination among the wide variety of programs which serve the poor," the Office of Economic Opportunity has been an essential national instrument and its programs should not be distributed to other agencies.

In the mildest of a series of minority views, six Republicans charged that there was "continuing mismanagement of the program at both the federal and local levels."

Five of these six Republicans filed additional, more critical views indicating a disposition to give Sargent Shriver's O.E.O. a minimal role or none at all in the anti-poverty program.

The antipoverty bill, which the committee reported to the Senate two weeks ago, will be called up for debate in the middle of next week "at the earliest," according to official sources. House debate is probably three weeks away, maybe more. The poverty program is in even greater difficulty on that side of the Capitol.

Charger Leads Off 1968 Dodge Parade

Dodge's all-new, second generation Charger, featuring semi-fastback design and jet-age aerodynamic styling, will be shown at Starbrick Motors today, Friday and Saturday. Designed as a full-size sports car, the new Charger represents a radical departure from the fastback styling of the Charger introduced in 1966, but continues its performance image.

And for the new year, the two-door hardtop Charger has a special performance model—the Charger R/T (Road and Track). Wedge-form design places styling emphasis over the rear wheels with the design tapering forward to convey a forward thrusting look.

A recessed backlight has been added for improved visibility and curved side glass of 60-inch radius hints of aircraft cockpit styling. Instruments cantilevered to the driver continues the aircraft theme.

"We aimed for a unique, yet highly functional design for the discriminating driver," said Robert B. McCurry, Dodge general manager. "We believe that the '68 Charger has achieved this with its fine balance of comfort, styling, performance and handling characteristics."

The 117-inch-wheel base Charger features a longer, lower hood line and a wind spoiler that is an integral part of the rear deck.

Head lights are set in the grille and concealed by an eye lid type door that automatically moves up and out of the way when the lights are turned on. The grille has a bright decorative aluminum moulding.

Charger's integrated bumper with vertical bumper guards blends with the design of the car and still accomplishes its functional assignment.

Other performance and styling features in the new Charger include simulated waste gates in the hood and body sides; a large quick-fill gas cap located aft on the quarter panel, and bumper-mounted parking lights that resemble rallye-type road lights.

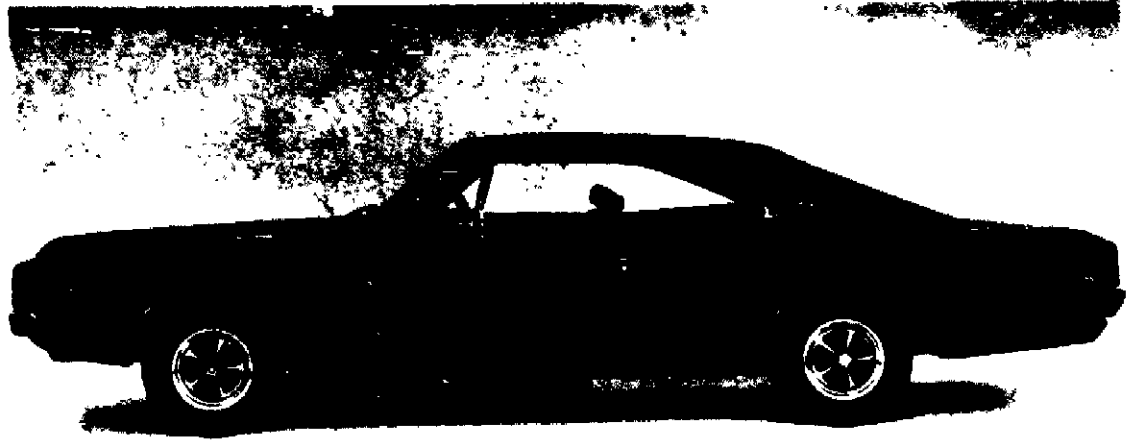

Charger R/T is equipped with the high performance 440-cubic-inch V-8, heavy duty suspension and brakes, dual exhausts and wide tread tires.

Wrap-around "bumble bee" stripes accent the R/T's sporty flavor. The stripes run across the rear deck and down the quarter panels.

Charger's all new six passenger interior features front bucket seats with an optional center console in an exclusive all-vinyl design.

A new rallye clock and the addition of convenient map pockets on both doors are also new innovations.

Standard engine in the Charger is the 318-cubic-inch V-8. Options include the 383-cubic-inch V-8, two-barrel, 383-cubic-inch V-8 four-barrel, the 426 Hemi and the 440 Magnum.

THE 1968 DODGE CHARGER

Charger for '68 incorporates many new exterior and interior safety features. The glove box door is hinged at the top to that it cannot fall open and downward. All window crank knobs are made of soft plastic formed into a tulip shape that will yield in the event of impact. The top of the front seat backs incorporate a corrugated section metal structure covered by a pad of energy-absorbing foam.

Instrument panel padding has also been extended around the lower portion of the dash for added leg and knee protection. Side marker lights are located at the front and rear of the Charger. Amber lights are used at the front while red lights designate the rear.

Fold-down front seats will offer manually operated seat back latches to prevent any forward pitch.

Other standard Charger safety features include recessed instrument panel ash trays and a power window safety lockout—a child protection feature which requires the ignition to be turned to either the ignition or accessory side in order for the power switches to be activated.

Optional safety equipment includes front seat head restraints, lap belts for center seat passengers, shoulderbelts for front and rear outboard passengers, padded steering wheel, and a factory-installed rear window defogger.

The 1968 Charger is offered in a choice of six attractive interior and 17 exterior colors. Public introduction of the 1968 Charger is scheduled for September 14.

Russell Man Is Cited

CORRY — City police on Monday cited a Russell man for driving under the influence of alcohol, the result of a crash here Sept. 4 when a truck driven by Hugh E. Barrett, 109 Liberty st., Russell went out of control and rolled over, spilling a load of machined steel rolls.

Police said Barrett was traveling west on East Main and lost control on the Shady avenue curve, rolling his rig on its right side.

The driver submitted to an alcohol blood test which proved positive.

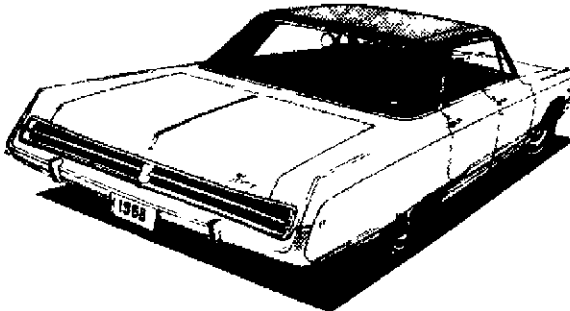

Information on the charge was filed with Alderman Porter Auer.

TODAY... DODGE fever HITS TOWN

'68 CHARGER

Like no other Charger you've ever seen. Brand, spanking new from road to roof. Complete with disappearing headlights. Foam-padded bucket seats up front. And eager, economical power from a standard V8 engine. One new touch is handy pockets in the doors for the things that get in your way when you travel. Here's a Dodge that's even a joy to think about.

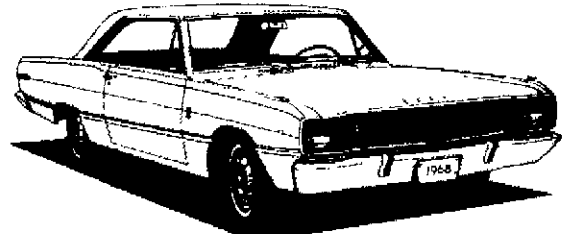

'68 MONACO

The super-plush Dodge every year, and especially for 1968. Here's a car that'll spoil you for everything else. With V8 power—the slickest, smoothest automatic transmission you've ever said "go" to—and every luxury touch a car this big and this good-looking should have. And yet, its price is a pleasant surprise.

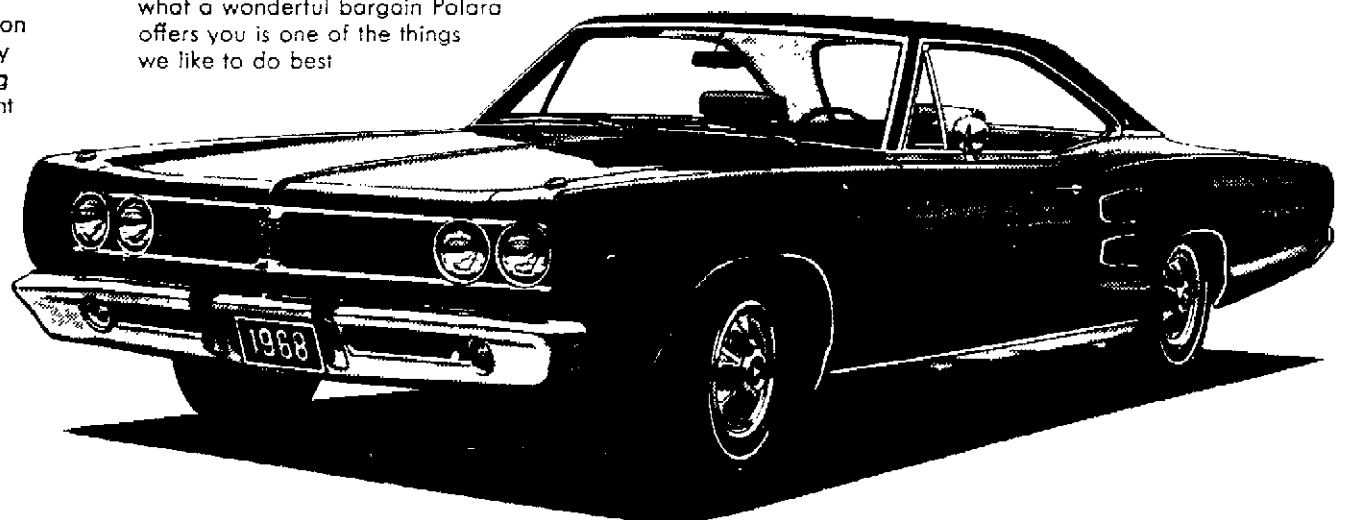

'68 POLARA

A whole lot of car for a lot less money than you'd think. It's big, it's powerful, it's luxurious. And it's priced in the same league with Impala and Galaxie 500. Hard to believe? Well, then. Come in, and let's talk figures. Proving what a wonderful bargain Polara offers you is one of the things we like to do best.

'68 DART

The compact that doesn't look like a compact. Or ride like one. Or act like one. Or cramp your style like one. Here's a compact that's all car. With lots of go and lots of room. With a V8 under it—hood it that's what you'd like. And Dart comes in a wide range of body styles. So no matter what style is your style, we have it. Come in and take a look.

'68 CORONET

Another all-new one from Dodge for '68. Coronet, featuring a full lineup of freshly styled models, including an addition to the line: a sharp new coupe. Like all other Dodges for '68, Coronet is sure to give you a good case of Dodge Fever. The only place to cure it is at your nearby Dodge Boys'. Come on in.

Ring Mag Rates Joe Frazier Number One

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the World Boxing Association dropped unbeaten Joe Frazier from second to eighth in its boxing ratings, Ring Magazine continued to rate the Philadelphia heavyweight as the No. 1 contender in his division.
Ring, the boxing monthly, still recognizes Cassius Clay-Muhammad Ali as champion.
In its monthly ratings, released today, Ring listed the heavyweight contenders in the following order behind Frazier: 2, Karl Mildenberger, Germany; 3, Thad Spencer, San Francisco.

Linda Chickens Out, Swims ChannelTopped

DOVER, England (AP) — The Rev. Samuel Archer, 65-year-old Dover vicar, refused yesterday to travel again as official observer for Linda McGill, the Australian girl who planned to swim the English Channel in a topless swimsuit.
Linda, 20, changed her mind and wore a red, one-piece suit when she swam from France to England last week. She plans another swim and an attempt on the record in the next few days wearing the same suit.
Archer said he quit because "It is impossible to keep evil-minded people from spreading their filthy ideas," he said.
Archer, a clergyman for 35 years, was named Miss McGill's observer by the Channel Swimming Association.

WingsShopping Europe for Hockey Players

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings disclosed yesterday they are shopping for hockey talent in Europe.
Mike Daski, a Canadian who has coached the West German National team for several seasons, has been signed by the National Hockey League club to scout Europe for possible future Red Wings. Daski resides in Winnipeg.
Jimmy Skinner, Detroit's chief scout and farm director, said he is going to Europe himself, possibly sometime in October.
"As of this year," Skinner said, "the National Hockey League clubs are no longer sponsoring junior (amateur) teams and all amateurs coming into the big league will pass through a universal draft."
"Europe could be the source of talent that would not pass through the draft."

Wings' Gordie Howe Inks for 22nd Year

By GENE SCHROEDER
DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, a 38-year-old hockey superstar slightly graying at the temples and admitting he is pushing his luck, signed a contract yesterday for his 22nd season with the Detroit Red Wings.
Howe, who has set more records than any other player in the National Hockey League, increased the longevity mark he already holds. No other player in league history has played more than 20 years.
Described by rivals as the greatest hockey player of all time, Howe reportedly agreed to a $100,000 salary-and-bonus package over the next two years.
"If my health holds up, I'll keep going," Howe told newsmen as he signed the contract with 10 different pens — one for each letter of his name.
"I could cave in at the middle of the season," he added. "That could happen to me, heaven forbid."
Sid Abel, Red Wing coach and general manager, said, "we don't feel Gordie's at the end of the line — that's why we signed him to two years."
If Howe, who has suffered innumerable injuries during his lengthy career, finally has to lay down his stick as an active player, he appears likely to wind up on the Red Wings coaching staff.
"I'd like to get into coaching when I'm through playing, and I'd like to stay with the Detroit club," Howe said. "They treat the players right and help them when they have personal or family problems."

When he finally does retire, Howe's records are likely to stand for a long time. He holds NHL marks for most games played, most goals, most assists, most playoff assists, most playoff penalty minutes and most playoff total points.
The first man ever to score 700 goals, Howe has been an all-star selection 18 times, has won six most valuable player awards, six point-scoring titles and five goal-scoring records.
The Wings also announced that veteran center Norm Ullman had ended a four-day holdout by signing a two-year contract.
Three other Red Wings, Floyd Smith, George Gardner and Gary Jarrett, remained unsigned but are taking part in workouts.
The 31-year-old Ullman, in his 13th NHL season, led Detroit in scoring last season with 70 and was named to the All-Star team for the second time.

Ranger Boss Slaps Fines On Holdouts

KITCHNER, Ont. (AP) — Emil Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, levied a total of $2,100 in fines against five holdout players yesterday including $500 each to Rod Gilbert, Orland Kurtenbach and Arnie Brown.
Minor leaguers Don Simmons and Wayne Hall were fined $300 each.
"All the players are bound by last year's contract to report to training camp 30 days prior to the season, and they simply are not living up to their contracts," Francis said.
"We've waited two days for them to report and feel that it is unfair to the club and other players. The fines are irrevocable and the players will be notified in writing."
Francis said he has not been in touch with Gilbert for 10 days and hasn't talked to Kurtenbach since Sunday. Brown is in camp but has refused to practice.
All are seeking salary increases. Gilbert was the club's top scorer last season with 28 goals.

January Defending In Philly Golf Play

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Don January, the weather-beaten Texan who won this year's PGA, defends his Philadelphia Golf Classic title at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club starting today.
January will find most of the regular tournament pros on hand to try for a part of the $110,000 in prize money. There will be one notable exception—Jack Nicklaus, Nicklaus, who twice has won the Philadelphia Classic and lost last year to January by a stroke, decided to sit this one out.
There won't be a lack of competition, however, as the 72-hole test—tomorrow through Sunday—has attracted Roberto de Vincenzo, the British Open champion, and Gay Brewer, the Masters winner, along with Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Gary Player.

January had taken a long rest and returned to the golf wars last weekend at Akron, Ohio, where he finished fourth in the World Series of golf, won by Nicklaus.
Palmer, who won this tournament in 1963 and tied for third last year with Bob Golby and Gene Littler, also has been taking a brief rest. He quit the Carling Open recently after three putting 12 times in two rounds.
Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., said he was mentally beat when he left the Carling and went home to relax. He could regain the touch at Whitemarsh where his stroke average is a very respectable 70.4.
Player joins the foreign delegation which includes de Vincenzo, Bruce Devlin of Australia and Peter Townsend, 20-year-old British Walker Cupper. De Vincenzo finished third behind Nicklaus and Brewer in the World Series after leading the first round by a stroke.
Others who will test Whitemarsh's 36-36-72 par include Ryder Cup members Doug Sanders, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols and Gardner Dickinson; Dan Sikes, Bob Charles, Kel Nagle, Littler, and Bruce Crampton.
The Whitemarsh tournament is the last of four—the Colonial, Cleveland and Western are the others—which determine the 12-man field for the Alcan Goller of the Year championship at St. Andrews in Scotland. The low 12 in these four tournaments, based on their best three scores, get a shot at a $80,000 first prize at St. Andrews. Dickinson, Dave Stockton, Miller Barber and Homero Blancas already are in, along with leading money winners Boros and Casper.

Blueberry Gals Topped Again By Mrs. Potter

Mrs. Helen Potter, who has been firing consistent golf all season, carded the low gross in play in the Blueberry Hill Women's Golf League again Tuesday.
The tournament for the week was "Tee to Green" play and results were as follows:
First flight — Ruth Grimaldi, low gross; Mary Helen Teague, low net; Helen Potter, tourney winner.
Second flight — Jeanette Silze, low gross; Gladys Taylor, low net; Doris Betts, tourney winners.
Third flight — Jenny Book, low gross; Audie Benson and Elizabeth Smith, the low net; DeLeo Reiff, tourney winner.
The match is scheduled for Sept. 28 in New York's Shea Stadium.
Benvenuti sparred two rounds with Teddy Wright and one each with Johnny Gumbs and Aldo Battistutta. The champion last worked out in the ring 16 days ago in his native Trieste.

Gone With The Wind
NEWPORT, R.I. — The first race of the America's Cup competition holds a somewhat analogous position to the opening game of the World Series. The winner is still a long way from clinching the over-all victory but he already has seized an edge of considerable proportions.
When Bus Mosbacher, the intrepid skipper of the Intrepid, sent his sleek craft darting over the starting line, yesterday in the second joust of this nautical tournament, he could be comforted by the fact that even if he lost he would be no worse off than he was when operations began Tuesday. However, his opposite number, Jack Sturrock of the Australian challenger, Dame Pattie, knew he had to win or be in deep trouble.
To the landlubbers assembled on the Coast Guard cutter, Active, the series already has produced two minor surprises. They came when each of the races was held on the days ordained. Off in the Atlantic, the hurricane, Doria, had flicked her skirts and sent strong winds along heavy, choppy seas into Rhode Island Sound Tuesday. This was weather that was supposed to be favorable to the Aussie boat. If it had not been for that fact, the chances are that the New York Yacht Club officials might have ordered a postponement. Rather than leave themselves open to accusations of ducking the issue, however, they hesitated briefly and went through the original schedule.
Thereupon, Intrepid, gone with the wind, whopped the Dame by a mile. It then was presumed that the beaten boat would make the normal request for a day's layover, time for the crew to lick its wounds, to make adjustments and maybe to send the spinnakers to the laundry to get starch put in them. The balloons sure hung limp and empty at the most injudicious times. But no layover was requested. So they went at it again yesterday.
Most of the top brass from down under was aboard the Active. Among them was Sir Robert Menzies, the indomitable wartime prime minister of Australia. He's a big man, merry-eyed and friendly. Like the others in his party, he was shocked by the lopsided defeat in the first meeting, but refused to concede anything.
"Many a team," said Sir Robert jauntily, "has been behind in the first innings and still has won the match. We hope that order holds true here."
Since he used the plural form of innings, he obviously was employing a cricket parallel instead of a baseball one. On the cutter with him was his wife, Dame Pattie, for whom the challenging boat was named. He was asked how he felt to find himself with two Dame Patties.
"It's an ambivalent situation," said Sir Robert, eyes atwinkle. "But I manage to survive."
Sir Robert confessed that he was "a total ignoramus" as far as yachting was concerned. He was in fitting company. Real experts were in a distinct minority as vessels of all sizes and descriptions bobbed on the choppy seas.
Although America's Cup races provide sport's most stirring spectacle, the accompanying fleet for the opening match was much smaller numerically than it ever has been in recent memory. There were no two main reasons for this decline. One was that the first race was held on a Tuesday instead of a Saturday. The other was that the waters were so rough that only the hardest sailors dared to venture that far from shore. There was a falling off in numbers again today. Only in the unlikely event that there's a seventh race will the armada reach proper proportions.
Grandiose though yachting is, exciting and dramatic it is not. Damon Runyon's classic description of some three decades ago still holds true. Write he: "Watching yacht racing is like watching grass grow." At one point in the opening test, Sir Robert wandered by.
"Pretty dull, isn't it?" he said glumly.
Even the Americans thought the same. If a baseball game is one-sided, a bored customer can leave. But the nautical spectators are stuck to the bitter end. When a guy is some 15 miles out in the ocean, the only alternative is swimming ashore. No one takes it.
In the early stages of a race a landlubber can't even tell who is ahead, so far apart are the two 12-meter craft on the vast expanses of the ocean. Even the experts aren't sure. It's only when the boats finish the beat in the wind and break open the spinnakers for a run before wind can margins be discerned.
The World Series also is run on a best four-of-seven basis but that is the only similarity. At least the baseball spectator always knows what the score is.

THREE MINUTES, 35 SECONDS BETTER THAN DAME PATTIE

Intrepid Repeats, Has 2-0 Edge

By ART HATTON JR.
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The United States' Intrepid dashed Australia's hopes yesterday by walloping the Dame Pattie for the second straight time for a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series between the two 12-meter yachts for the America's Cup.

The white-hulled, 64-foot beauty, skippered by Bus Mosbacher, once again sailed off to an early lead and was in command all the way over the six-leg, 24.3-mile course on Rhode Island Sound.

Intrepid, which lost time to the challenger on only one leg, finished with a victory margin of 3 minutes, 35 seconds. She crossed the line at 4:04:21 followed by the Dame Pattie at 4:07:57.

The third race will be held today, starting at 12:10 p.m., EDT, weather permitting. The skippers had the privilege of asking for a day off but neither requested one.

In the opening race Tuesday, Intrepid trounced the blue-hulled, 65-foot Dame Pattie, skippered by Jock Sturrock, by 5 minutes, 55 seconds and one mile in distance in gusty winds of 13 to 22 knots.

The second race, delayed 26 minutes by light winds, started off in a east-northeast breeze of 10 knots. Intrepid showed she was the boss no matter the wind conditions.

It didn't make any difference when the wind stiffened to 18 knots for the fourth leg. Intrepid sailed serenely ahead. When the wind velocity dropped again on the final leg to 12 to 15 knots, Intrepid continued to rule the waves.

Judging by the quality of the boats, sails and crews, the Americans appeared on the way to another four-race sweep, a feat they have accomplished in three of the last four challenges.

Only the Australian Gretel, with Sturrock at the helm, was able to win a single race. That was in 1962 when Mosbacher led Weatherly to a 4-1 victory.

In the most recent challenge to this one, Constellation blasted England's Sovereign 4-0 in 1964.

The U.S.A. has held the Cup 116 years and this is the 20th challenge since 1870.

On Tuesday, Mosbacher and his fast-working crew, took the lead on the first leg and kept adding to it at every marker.

In the second race, Intrepid did the same for the first three legs of a triangular course and led by 2 minutes, 3 seconds.

Dame Pattie then chipped seven seconds off the leader's advantage on the fourth leg, a windward (into the wind) one of 4.5 miles.

But then Intrepid raced away from the challenger on the fifth leg, to leeward (with the wind) of 4.5 miles, stretching her advantage to 3 minutes, 23 seconds. On the final windward leg of 4.5 miles Intrepid picked up 13 more seconds.

Dame Pattie's chances were virtually wrecked on the first leg of the race. This was another windward leg of 4.5 miles. She had trouble with a jib (a headsail set on a stay) and lost about 30 seconds. This was very costly as she trailed Intrepid by 53 seconds at the first marker.

Here are the times when the yachts passed the six leg markers, Intrepid first: 1st 22:09 to 1:23:02, margin 53 seconds; 2nd 1:45:22 to 1:46:54, margin 1 minute, 32 seconds; 3rd 2:03:24 to 2:05:27, margin 2:03; 4th 2:48:23 to 2:50:19, margin 1:56; 5th 3:20:49 to 3:24:12, margin 3:23; 6th 4:04:21 to 4:07:57, margin 3:36.

Holiday Tourney Field Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Bearcats, the 1959 and 1961 champions, will be among the entries in the 1969 Eastern College Athletic Conference Holiday Basketball Tournament in the new Madison Square Garden.

The dates and entries for the New York tourney and the ECAC Quaker City tournament in the new Philadelphia Spectrum were announced yesterday. The competition in both instances will be held on Saturday, Dec. 27; Monday, Dec. 29, and Tuesday, Dec. 30.

Other teams in the Garden tourney are Purdue, Boston College, Mahattan, New York University, Pennsylvania, St. Bonaventure and St. Joseph's, Pa. Brigham Young, Georgia, Wake Forest, Connecticut, Cornell, LaSalle, Massachusetts and Villanova will play in the Quaker City tournament. LaSalle won the title in 1963 and 1961.

AGONY OF DEFEAT

Jock Sturrock, skipper of Australia's Dame Pattie, shows his disappointment as he berths his ship following Tuesday's loss to the U.S. entry, Intrepid, in the opening of the race for Yachting's America's Cup. Sturrock's face must have been even longer after yesterday's defeat. (See story above right). At top is diamond-shaped course in Rhode Island Sound.

Tribe Sells Catcher To Minor Loop Club
CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indians catcher Richard Booker was sold yesterday to Jacksonville, Fla., of the International League for an undisclosed price.

Booker, 25, was assigned to Jacksonville, a farm club of the New York Mets, this season and batted .263 in 51 games.

Landry Sees Close Game With Browns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys said yesterday that his National Football League opener at Cleveland Sunday will be a close one and he figured the score would be 24-21.

But he didn't say who would get the 24 although he added that he figured Dallas had a good chance to win it.

This despite a losing record in pre-season games, climaxed by a 33-7 beating by Baltimore last week.

Landry didn't indicate he was disturbed that he might have to face Cleveland with inexperienced corner backs—the thing that brought the smashing defeat from Baltimore as Johnny Unitas passed the Cowboys dizzy.

Cornell Green, the all-pro Dallas cornerback, may not be able to play because of a calcium buildup in his ankle, and if he does it will be on a limited basis.

This leaves the cornerback jobs up to rookie Phil Clark and second year man Mike Johnson, who is playing the position for the first time. Landry said he thought the two had the potential to become top performers at the positions.

Landry was reminded that Dallas never had won in Cleveland but he added "well very few people have." He said he thought it would be harder to stop the Cleveland running than Baltimore because of Leroy Kelly. But, he noted, Dallas had shown its finest defense ever against running in the Baltimore game.

Quarterback Don Meredith, who reinjured his ribs in the Baltimore game after showing some excellent passing, was throwing well in practice and would start against Cleveland, Landry said.

Also Ralph Neely, the star offensive tackle, is now back in shape and ready to go. And Landry appeared quite optimistic for a coach whose team lost three out of five in the pre-season schedule.

Baylor, Lakers Agree to Terms
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elgin Baylor, for nine years a star of the Los Angeles Lakers basketball team, came to a contract agreement yesterday with the National Basketball Association club.

Baylor agreed to a one-year extension of his present contract, the terms of which were not divulged. It had been reported he wanted a longer extension as well as a future job with the Lakers when he eventually retires.

Baylor reported for the first time to the team's practice and is slated to appear in an intra squad game at Loyola University tonight.

Falcons Claim Defensive End

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons have claimed linebacker-defensive end Charles "Bo" Wood from the New Orleans Saints, the club announced yesterday. Wood was made available by waiver two days ago as the Saints cut their squad as required by the National Football League.

In order to make room for Wood, the Falcons placed rookie defensive back Floyd Hudlow on waivers. Hudlow played college football at the University of Arizona.

Anti-Smokes Stand Said
Deplorable

By JANE E. BRODY
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—An attorney who recently spurred the Federal Communications Commission to rule that television and radio stations carrying cigarette commercials must also provide free time for anti-smoking announcements, accused the voluntary health organizations yesterday of taking an "outrageous, deplorable and reprehensible" position with regard to this decision.

The attorney, John F. Banzhaf 3rd of New York, said the organizations had failed to provide any legal, financial or moral support to aid his fight against the cigarette and broadcasting interests. He said the organizations were afraid to jeopardize their relationship with the broadcasters, on whom they depend for free time for their fund-raising campaigns.

Banzhaf filed the complaint that led to the F.C.C. ruling in June. He maintained that cigarette advertising on radio and television presented only one side of a controversial issue of public importance and that the public interest and health required that substantial amounts of broadcast time be devoted to presenting the opposing viewpoint.

The commission recommended that one minute of broadcast time be devoted to messages about the health hazards of smoking for every three minutes of cigarette advertising carried.

Yesterday at a meeting of the World Conference on Smoking and Health Banzhaf described the commission's decision as possibly "the turning point in the war on smoking." The decision may finally convince radio and TV stations to give up cigarette advertising, a move a number have been considering.

The three-day conference, which ended yesterday, was sponsored by the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health, an affiliation of voluntary health and educational organizations.

Banzhaf said that shortly after the F.C.C. decision he had asked the council and its member agencies for help in defending and enforcing the decision.

However, he said, "They refused to become involved in any way with the legal defense of the decision, directly or indirectly, openly or otherwise."

Dr. Asbel Williams, president of the American Cancer Society, said in a news conference that he thought it would be "appropriate" for the society to file complaints of non-compliance.

Dr. Williams added that in the last six months the cancer society had "more than doubled" its production of broadcast materials designed to discourage smoking.

Banzhaf said the ruling would be fought by broadcasting and cigarette interests. The attorney himself has brought the first appeal of the ruling before the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., asking for equal time for anti-smoking announcements.

Inventories Stable
During July

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Total business inventories were essentially stable in July following their decline in June, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

At $137.11 billion, inventories at the end of July were $40 million below a month earlier. The decline in June had been $280 million. All figures are seasonally adjusted.

Manufacturers' stocks, as previously reported, rose $280 million in July, but both wholesalers and retailers continued to cut back their inventories, by a combined total of more than $300 million.

Yesterday's report tended to confirm the "profile" of the economy as projected by the Johnson administration. It indicated that sizable and sustained inventory liquidation was unlikely, though it remained impossible to say when normal inventory accumulation would resume.

Total manufacturing and trade sales rose by $500 million to $89.85 billion in July. This improvement was only about one half of one per cent, but the month still showed some improvement in the ratio of stocks to sales.

This ratio for the business sector as a whole was 1.54 in July, meaning that inventories were equal to 1.54 months of sales. The ratio a year earlier had been 1.48, and some further reduction will undoubtedly be sought by business in the months ahead.

The shikra is perhaps the oldest known breed of domesticated dog. Excavations of the Sumerian empire, estimated at 4,000 to 6,000 B.C., have produced drawings of the breed.

SOCIAL Wanderings by Marion Honhart

THE FIRST MEETING THIS FALL of the Warren County Medical Auxiliary will take place on Tuesday, September 19th, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert G. Smith, 319 Mohawk ave., Extension. This is to be a very special meeting at which plans will be discussed for the coming year's program, and, new members will be introduced. Refreshments will be served by the hostess and her committee: Mrs. Donald Baltzer, Mrs. Quay McCune, Mrs. Paul Frazer, Mrs. Joseph Ley, Mrs. Joseph Mull and Mrs. Norman Morgan. It is requested that reservations be made early.

ALSO ON TUESDAY THE WARREN COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY is meeting, though a bit earlier than the ladies. The doctors will meet at 4:30 at Warren State Hospital; there they will be the guests of the Warren State Hospital medical staff. The program will be a panel discussion on "Sex Education" by Dr. John Urbatis of the state hospital staff, and Dr. A. Follmer Yerg of Warren General Hospital staff. Dinner will be served following the program.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB BRIDGE had its weekly session on Thursday with four tables of the Howell Movement in play. The average score was 24. First honors went to Mrs. Arthur DeLuca and Mrs. Shirl Glass, 30; 2nd, Mrs. J. Theo Valone and Mrs. Gaston Hamilton, 28; 3rd, Mrs. Winston Teague and Miss Felicia Lucia, 25; 4th Mrs. J. R. Valone and Miss Frances Schimmling, 23½. Next Thursday the players will again meet at the Woman's Club at 1 p.m.

ONLY THREE WEEKS AWAY the Zonta Fashion Show has taken on definite form and color by now. The enterprising committee, hard at work on all the preparations, met at the home of Julia Decker on Hickory street, the other evening. "Portraits in Fashion" is the name of the show; clothes will be from Levinsons and jewelry from Isabelle's Specialties Shop; gift certificates will be part of the October 4th event in the auditorium of Beaty Junior High School; music will be played at the organ by Alice Fox; and, Helene Iseman will do the commentary on fashions. The big prize of the evening will be a Butte Knit ensemble. All Zontians now have tickets to sell at $1; the proceeds realized from this evening of entertainment, style and fashion will go towards the Zonta Scholarship Fund.

CHURCH-FAMILY DINNER will be held at the Sugar Grove Methodist church at 12:15. Members and friends of the church are invited to attend. Own table service and tureen must be furnished, the dinner will be served in the social rooms. After the feast a discussion of the building addition will take place.

MINIATURES: The Warren County W.C.T.U. convention will be held in Tidoute on Wednesday, September 27th from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at First Methodist Church.

The Daniel G. Mourer descendants held a reunion at Wilder Field last Sunday, for the first time in several years. They had such a good time another reunion is to be held in '68. Plumer Mourer was elected president and Mrs. Steve Zock, secretary. Sixty-five were present for the tureen dinner and short business meeting which followed.

North Warren PTA meeting Monday evening at 7:30 when Mrs. Helene Iseman will show a film on "Discovering and Developing Individual Differences in Children" by the National PTA Foundation, from The Pennsylvania State University. Refreshments will be served by 6th grade mothers; there will be no classroom visitation.

Group Selling ID Tags

The Pre-School Child Study Group met Monday night at the Shadow Brook Dairy social room to discuss plans for selling identification tags. These tags are not just recommended for children, but for adults also.

Identification tags come in the form of a necklace. Type one (1) necklace is 1" wide by 2" long. Type two (2) necklace is ½" wide by 2" long. They are made of highly polished, nontarnishable, stainless steel. The following information will be put on these tags: first line includes first name, initial, last name; second—street address, rural route; third—town, state; fourth—telephone number, letter of religion if desired; and fifth line—important medical notes. There is a limit of 21 letters per line.

Why is it important that identification tags be worn? Because parents can be promptly notified when members of their families are involved in accidents and sudden illnesses; Because identification tags can reduce the possibility of improper or dangerous emergency treatments; Because small lost children can be returned to their families without delay; Because, in the event of catastrophic floods, hurricanes, fires, earthquakes or other civil or military calamities, identification can be immediately established. Civil Defense authorities have frequently urged that all citizens, regardless of age or place or residence, wear these durable tags.

The Study Group feels this should be of interest to all parents as these tags serve many purposes—they are really life saving. The identification tag with chain will sell for $1.00 each. You can order extra chains for 25 cents each. For further information or orders, call Mrs. Wilbur Swartz at 723-4335 or any member of the club. All proceeds will be used to help underprivileged children and to sponsor a young woman from the Warren State Hospital.

Grange Notice

A motion was made to invite the "Youth Degree Team" to confer third and fourth degrees at a special meeting on September 21 at the Watson Grange. All granges are invited to bring their third and fourth degree candidates to this meeting which starts at 8 p.m.

Post Master Robert Hollabaugh with the aid of Stewards Virginia and Earl Strom obliged the first and second degrees to Edgar Burris. Books will be audited Tuesday, September 19 by Robert Hollabaugh.

YWCA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The YWCA starts off another new year with its annual membership campaign. Pictured here at the "kickoff" meeting are Mrs. Robert Peltz, Mrs. Donald Wischer, chairman of the membership campaign, Miss Carolyn Schaffer, new Y-Teen director, Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president of the board of directors and Mrs. David Winans.

YWCA Starts New Season

The 1967 membership campaign for the YWCA began its season Thursday morning with a coffee hour, preceding a short business meeting. Mrs. Donald Wischer, membership chairman, gave the meditation. Mrs. Ervin Branch, executive director, was introduced and expressed her appreciation to the membership committee and reported on the many renewals already received.

Miss Carolyn Schaffer, the new teen-age program director, was introduced and welcomed to the professional staff of the Warren YWCA. Mrs. Donald Spencer, president of the Board of Directors, spoke to the group about "America's Secret Weapon". She explained this as being "People who are willing to give of themselves to worthwhile parts of American life". Mrs. Spencer went on to explain the world "As a united non-denominational group, with the Barrier-Breaking purpose of God".

The Y offers many advantages for women, as explained by Mrs. Branch. Many clubs and organizations are associated with the YWCA. The All-We-Je Club, the oldest group, with Mrs. Cecil Moran as president; the Dessert Club, with Mrs. Violet Borg and Mrs. Mary McCurdy, co-presidents; Variators Club of young married women, is another group with Mrs. Douglas Smith as president; and the One O'Clock Club with Mrs. Henry Bailey, president.

The Warren Garden Club is an affiliate of the YWCA as is the Golden Age Group. The League of Women Voters and many other civic groups use the facilities of the YWCA. A com-

Zonta Club Opens Fall Season

Zonta Club began its fall season with a luncheon at the Blue Manor on Thursday. Business was opened with the reading of past minutes followed by the treasurer's report. It was announced that the winner of the Scholarship Fund is soon to be made public.

Mrs. Virginia Hohman, vice-president, was elected by the membership as the delegate to the District IV Fall Conference of Zonta International. She will arrive in Hamilton, Ontario, in time for the opening session on October 13.

A decision was made that the monthly chairman and her committee will be responsible for planning menus and taking care of reservations. Anyone unable to attend a meeting should contact a member of the committee with her cancellation. A report was made by Mrs. Julia Decker on the progress of the style show, "Portraits in Fashion", to be held at Beaty Auditorium on October 4. Tickets are now available and may be purchased from any member.

Answers Your Problems

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Summer is nearly over, but I would like to say a word to parents who may not be paying much attention to their children because they think they are nice, normal kids.

I was a playground instructor for 10 weeks. Playground instructors have very little authority over the children. Almost every day playground equipment disappeared, acoustical tiles were knocked out of the ceilings and carried off, class projects were stolen before the paint had a chance to dry. It is impossible to watch every child every minute and I never believed it was necessary—until I became a playground instructor.

Please tell parents to keep an eye on what their children bring home. If a kid turns up with a "strange" ball, bat or other sports equipment, he should be made to take it back.

Kids who are allowed to keep things they have carried off get the idea that it's perfectly all right to do so.—BUG-EYED AT WHAT KIDS STEAL

DEAR BUG: Thank you for your letter. Small acts of dishonesty when ignored encourage more daring acts. Take heed, parents.
+ + +

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Philadelphia Gram" prompts this letter. She is the woman who sent her grandchildren cash for birthdays and Christmas and never received an acknowledgment.

My niece and nephew were extremely negligent about letting me know they received my gifts. Sometimes their mother would write, "Oh, by the way, the kids sure liked their Christmas presents." One day when they were visiting I told my sister I was getting tired of wondering if my gifts had arrived. She snapped, "Oh, get with it. Thank-you notes are out of style." (The children were present.) I told her AND the children that thank-you notes weren't out of style as far as I was concerned and that I wasn't going to send anything else until I heard from them.

That was several years ago, and they have never failed to write and thank me for every gift since we had the understanding. We have a much warmer relationship now and I have not only their love but their respect, as well.—AUNT MARGARET

DEAR AUNT: You did those children a bigger favor than you may realize. Burning in silence is no way to improve a situation. I am a strong believer in setting the record straight. Often people don't know how you feel until you tell them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you lost your marbles? Why did you say worshippers on vacation should dress up when they attend church?

People should not have to drag their finery along when they go to the woods or to the seashore or to a fishing camp. A vacation should be a vacation. If one were to follow your advice, it would be appropriate to substitute the bulletin announcing the title of the sermon with a sign reading, "Fashion Show Begins at 11:00 a.m." How dumb can you get?—MADISON, WIS.

DEAR MAD: If you'll wipe the foam off your mouth and listen, I'll repeat. Nobody said church goers should dress to the teeth. I said it is in poor taste to go to church barefoot, in bathing suits, shorts and bikinis. Got it straight?
+ + +

Confidential to A House Divided: I am with you, Mother. A knuckle sandwich is no solution for trouble with a 16-year-old boy who has been sassy and rebellious since knee-pants. He needs guidance from someone outside the family. I hope he gets it—and soon. Call Family Service. They provide superb counseling service.
+ + +

Who calls the signals on how far petting should go—the boy or the girl? What are the ground rules for a safe session of romance? Read Ann Landers booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Executive Committee Meets

The Executive Committee for the Allegheny Valley Teacher-Parent Group met recently at the home of Mrs. Judy Grosch. Mrs. Gretchen Tingwall, president, outlined the goals for the coming year with emphasis being placed on the coming immediate needs of the three schools now serving our area. Programs for the coming months were also listed for approval.

Mrs. Mary Ann Font, membership chairman, announced plans for the coming membership drive with the aim of enrolling all interested parents having children in kindergarten through sixth grade. A report from the ways and means committee, headed by Mrs. Carley Wiedmaier and Mrs. Patty Baker told of the projects planned for the year.

The first meeting of the Teacher-Parent Group will be next Monday, September 18, at the Clarendon School. Speaker will be Mr. Myron Latimer on Speech Therapy, a topic which should be of interest to all.

South PTA Officers, Chairmen Named

The second meeting of the South Street PTA was held on September 12 at 205 Irvine st. at the home of the new president Mr. Peter Carnovale. Several articles were discussed and decided upon. Three income projects will be held throughout the year, the first being a rummage sale in October.

The officers and committee chairmen for the 67-68 term are as follows: president — Mr. Peter Carnovale, vice president — Mrs. Santo Pascuzzi, secretary — Mrs. Frank Raffaele, treasurer — Mrs. James Gray and faculty advisor — Mr. David Merenick. Committee chairmen are: program — Mrs. Santo Pascuzzi, publicity — Mrs. Albert Fulton, magazine — Mrs. Frank Raffaele, membership — Mrs. Peter Carnovale and Mrs. Robert Wolfe, finance — Mrs. James Gray, legislation — Mrs. David Larsen, devotions — Mrs. Walter English and hospitality — Mrs. Anthony Massa. The executive committee will also serve as our delegate to the Warren Council PTA. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Peter Carnovale.

Postal Service Day to Be Observed

EXAMINE POSTAL BULLETIN

Francis DeLong (left) assistant postmaster, and Ed Weigle (standing), accountant, examine the latest postal bulletin with Frank Fago, postmaster.

By DAVE KNIGHT

During the week of Sept. 18th the United States Postal Service will be celebrating Postal Service Day to commemorate the many years of service provided by the government sanctioned facility.

Each year billions of pieces of mail are distributed throughout the world by the U.S. Postal Service. To be more precise there are some 71.9 billions of pieces distributed annually. An impressive figure which becomes more impressive when broken down on a personal basis. The 200 million pieces of mail delivered daily averages out to some 371 pieces of mail per each person in the country per year.

Locally the post office processes 85,000 letters and parcels daily or some two million pieces of mail over a given four week period.

This monumental job is handled locally by 59 postal clerks. There are 35 regular clerks, 14 substitute clerks and 10 college students employed by the local office. Aside from this there are 30 postal carriers on the job locally. There are 19 regular carriers, nine substitute carriers and two rural route carriers.

The local office services the Warren area as far west as Irvine, as far east as Hemlock and Allegheny National Forest, south to the Hearts Content area and north as far as Valentine road.

Local officials estimate the annual gross receipts of the local service average nearly $5 million, making the local office one of the largest in the state.

National research engineers are attempting to improve effectiveness of the service, turning to automation in many of the larger cities because of the escalation in postal usage.

Sectional centers were established in 1965 and the "zip code" incorporated to make the service even more effective. Through the use of the "zip code", sectional centers, there are 552 presently in operation, provide this improved service.

To use the phrase of the post office the mail moves the world - "zip code" moves the mail.

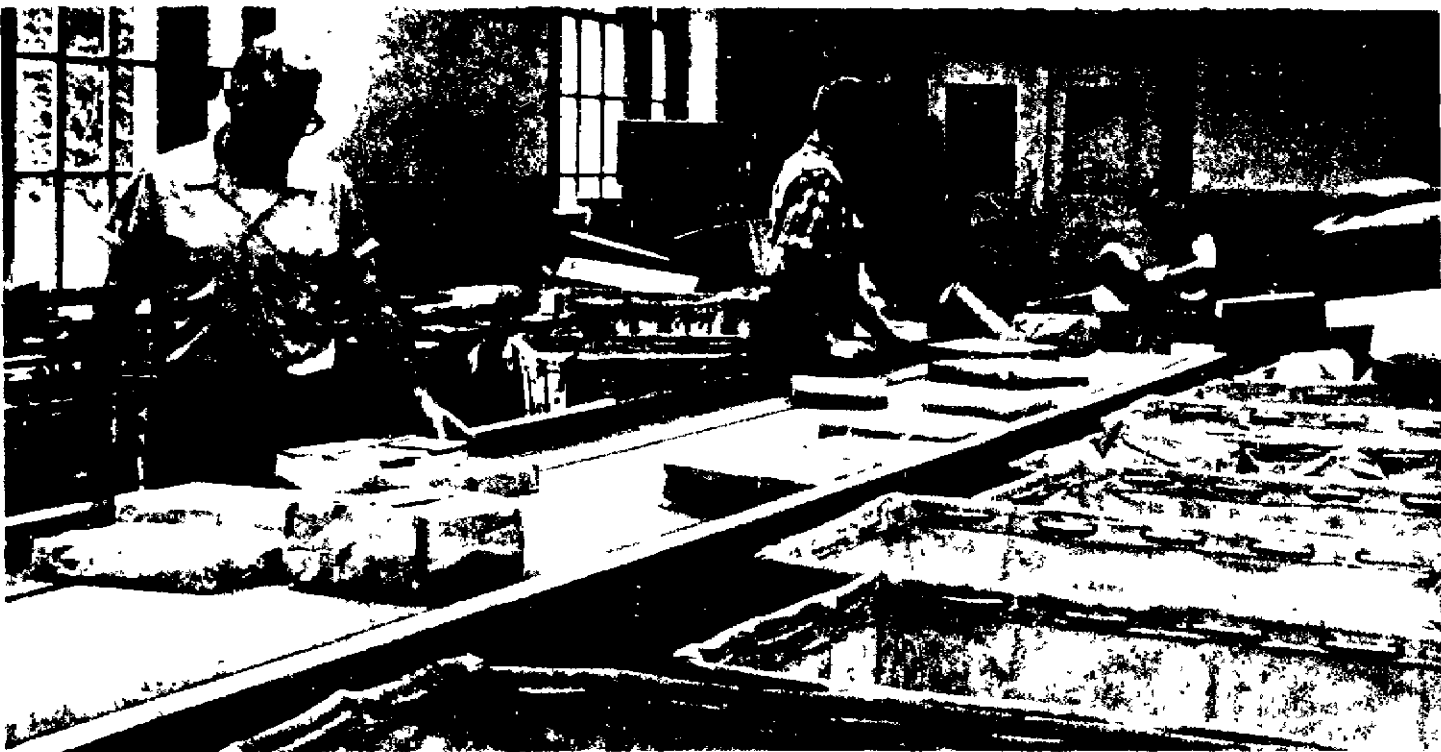

COVER PHOTO

James Urbanski is typical of the smiling, mild-mannered men, who daily trudge the miles of street within the borough to deliver the mail to local residents. This week's Allegheny takes a look at the local postal service, which will be celebrating postal service day during the week of Sept. 18th.

BUSY PLACE

In the early hours of the morning the loading dock is a busy place. Here trucks are loaded for special delivery, parcel post, star route areas as well as Pittsburgh and Buffalo terminal trailers and the New Process trucks delivering circulars and parcel post packages.

CHOOSE ANY

to help you grow a better man out of your boy. Regardless of the Faith of the particular church you choose to help you... your child will have more Faith if he is raised in the church. Of course the 'punk' will deny this but we have the assurance of a great God that His Word and His Church will help to build great men, dependable men, men who can be trusted.

Then parents, say as Jesus said to you, "Take My Hand" And once your child takes hold... lead him straight to church. God has led both old and young alike to very high places. He can do it again. We can be conquerors if Divine strength and wisdom flows in upon our souls. Then let us abide in the will of God, obey His inviting voice and march like soldiers to victory.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support the program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and attend services regularly.

Three Types of Hunger

by the Rev. Arthur J. Fleckenstein
St. John's Church
25 First Avenue
Tidioute, Pennsylvania 16351

"What is there that I ought to do more to my vineyard, that I have not done to it," Isaiah 5:4

The world of today suffers from three types of hunger: Bread, culture, God.

The hunger with which we will concern ourselves for the moment is that of our own nations hunger for God.

A recent survey provides statistics to substantiate the truth that 100 million Americans claim membership in no formal religion. One-half of the population of the United States is sterile, religiously.

The frightening and staggering information causes one to wonder why the religious apathy of so many citizens of this great nation, America has been blessed by God as has no other nation under heaven. Has God been so good that we have lapsed into a psychedelic fantasy whereby too many of our moderns seem to conclude God owes us the lush life to which we have become accustomed because we are of His family?

Truly, God has been over-provident. We in turn, have tendered Him so very little of our time and effort.

Man's base ingratitude could yet be his own undoing.

Religion, being a service of love and obedience to God our Creator, Preserver, and Redeemer — its practice becomes a duty no man may ignore nor shirk.

The recognition of God's supremacy and providence leaves man no other choice. How is it then man is not only remiss in this primary obligation but is given to base ingratitude as well?

How long shall man tempt God to give and give, when one-half our population refuse Him the honor, glory, adoration and love such gratuitous gifts demand?

On one occasion Jesus manifested a hurt when He cured ten of a loathsome disease and only one returned to say thanks.

A people so blessed, so free, so much the object of God's great bounty and providence, should not have to be coerced into this recognition. The fulfillment of such an obligation should come spontaneously in view of God's infinite blessings on our beloved nation, its people, its government, its all.

It may be later than we think but let us pray it be not too late for each to manifest his gratitude and appreciation to God by an all out attempt to solicit an unchurched relative, friend, or associate. Then, once again enlist the stranger in the church of his choice, that he might return to an obligation long, long overdue. Time is of the essence.

CHANGE OF SHIFT

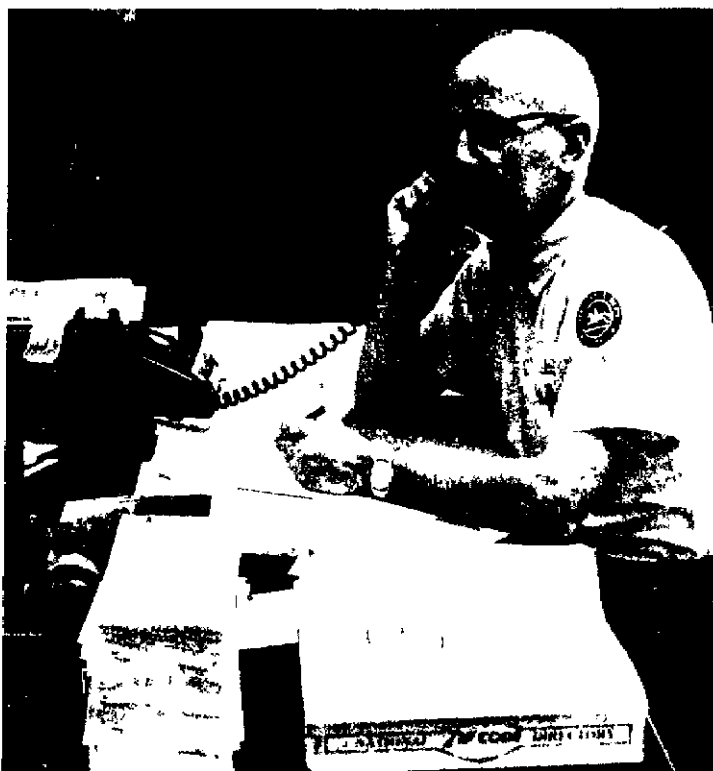

A change of shift, Ed Shields seated, superintendent discussing assignments and business of the day with Carl Lindberg, evening supervisor. Postal workers must work around the clock to keep up with the volume of mail processed by the local office.

CANCELLING MACHINE

Angelo Galiano runs a handful of letters through the high speed stamp cancelling machine preparing outgoing letters before dispatching according to zip code sectional centers.

CLAIMS CLERK

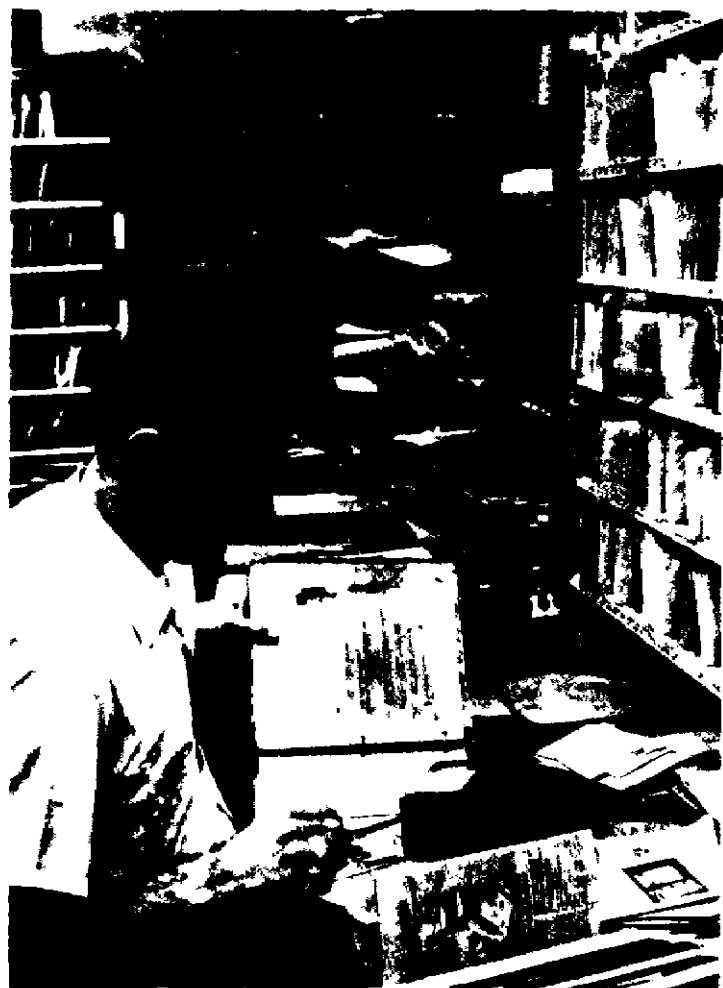

Phil Smith, information and claims clerk, acts in routing phone calls and gives information to area postal patrons. Phil's job also includes processing postal claims.

SORTS AND PLACES

Warren Rohlin sorts and places thousands of pieces of mail into local patrons Post Office boxes. Above he is entering pre-sorted mail into individual boxes for early morning patrons.

PRE-SORT

Lynn Williams, one of 30 local mail carriers, must pre-sort his route mail each morning before his actual delivery activities begin. This is just one of many tasks each of the carriers must perform in his daily routine.

FIRST CLASS MAIL

Charles McConnell one of several city distributors sorts and distributes in coming first class mail as it is received at the local office. This is only one of several sorting operations. From here letters are distributed to carriers, postal boxes, etc.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE

Needing a place to put my canned goods and staples that would be more convenient to my cooking area I stacked two unused bookcases one on top of the other in a corner of the kitchen.

Now I have plenty of room for everything and it is more convenient being able to find what I want immediately without having to stoop to look into a dark cabinet or a walk-in closet.

If one wishes they could hang a drape or matchstick shade from the top bookcase with an ordinary curtain rod or a draw-drape rod.

Mrs. Thompson

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE

Well a few of us here in this town really go all out.

We cut up old stuff and make new stuff and blame it all on YOU.

A Fan

DEAR HELOISE

When fastening my supporters to my stockings I bend my knees slightly and then hook the supporters in my stockings. There is a little give in the stockings which helps to avoid runs.

Since I've been doing this I sure get less runners.

Housewife

DEAR HELOISE

Just a note for mothers who want to teach their child to button his shirt and coat before he starts going to school.

Take buttons of different sizes from the button box from the small ones to the great big ones, sew them on a piece of cloth and cut button holes to match.

Then let him button away. You'll be surprised how quickly he learns. The preschooler will have great fun working with the buttons. It keeps him busy and gives him something new to do.

And just think by the time he is ready for kindergarten or nursery school, he won't have to ask anyone to button his shirt or coat for him!

Nancy Ninman

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

WITH A SMILE

Service with a smile. Harold LaRue, mail order clerk, posts a mail order for Mrs. Joseph R. Colestock, of Barberton, Ohio. Mrs. Colestock stopped to post a letter as she and her family were passing through Warren.

SATURDAY

MAYA, a new series about the adventures of two teenage boys and their elephant companion, Maya, premieres at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12. "Blood of the Tiger" is the first show. Terry Bowen arrives in Bombay to join his father, a hunter employed by a local maharaja, and is told that he was killed by a tiger.

SATURDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES has its season premiere at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 with "What a Way to Go," starring Shirley MacLaine, with Robert Mitchum, Paul Newman, Dean Martin, Gene Kelly, Bob Cummings and Dick Van Dyke. Louisa (Miss MacLaine) wants to live a simple, humble life with only one man to love, but she has a problem — her marriages bring her nothing but money.

IRON HORSE makes its season debut at 9:30 p. m. on Ch. 7. The opener is "Diablo," in which confusion develops when Ben's new race horse pulls a tendon before the first big race.

MANNIX comes to Chs. 4, 35, and 10 as a new CBS series at 10 p. m. Mike Connors plays a highly specialized private detective working for a firm known as Intertec. His boss is played by Joseph Campanella. In the opening adventure, Mannix baits a million-dollar trap for the kidnapers of the glamorous daughter of a former racketeer. Lloyd Nolan and Kim Hunter guest star as the parents of the girl.

SUNDAY

WONDERFUL WORLD OF COLOR at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 presents "The Not So Lonely Lighthouse Keeper," the story of the day-to-day life of the keeper of a lighthouse on a Southern California channel island.

ED SULLIVAN SHOW at 8 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 headlines the husband-wife singing team of Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme.

ABC SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Ch. 7 has its season premiere with "The Greatest Show on Earth," starring Charlton Heston, James Stewart, Betty Hutton, Cornel Wilde, Dorothy Lamour and many spectacular performers in this exciting circus epic concerning a circus manager struggling with poor business, his own romance, and problems with the performers.

BONANZA has its season opener at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 with "Second Chance," in which the Cartwrights find they must depend on help from two thieves and a cowardly army deserter to protect a group of disillusioned settlers from an Indian attack. James Gregory is guest star.

SMOTHERS BROTHERS at 9 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 are joined by Herman's Hermits and George Burns.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE at 10 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 has Jim Phelps leading the Impossible Missions Force across the desert to recover hijacked Inca gold artifacts and expose a traitor who would abscond with the treasure.

HIGH CHAPARRAL at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 presents "Ghost of Chaparral," in which Victoria's efforts to overcome her husband's memory of his first wife are thwarted when Apaches lay siege to their ranch and she is kidnapped.

MONDAY

COWBOY IN AFRICA at 7:30 p. m. on Ch. 7 has "Incident at Derati Wells," in which Jim Sinclair is kidnapped by nomads in northern Kenya.

DANNY THOMAS HOUR at 9 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 12 has "Instant Money," starring Danny, with guest stars Sid Caesar, Don Adams and Abby Dalton. Having promised his wife that he will give up betting when their baby is born, a gambler and two friends try to get a horse that "can't lose" to finish ahead of the stork.

TUESDAY

THE INVADERS at 8:30 p. m. on Ch. 7 brings "The Watchers," in which a blind girl helps David Vincent find the link between electronics wizard Paul Cook and the aliens running a resort lodge.

TUESDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES screens "Send Me No Flowers" at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12. Starring are Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall. Overhearing a doctor's conversation about a patient who has but a short time to live, a devout hypochondriac comes to the erroneous conclusion that he is the ill-fated subject.

CBS REPORTS at 10 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 when Eric Sevareid interviews longshoreman and philosopher Eric Hoffer in a program titled "Eric Hoffer: the Passionate State of Mind."

WEDNESDAY

ABC WEDNESDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Ch. 7 presents "Paradise Hawaiian Style" with Elvis Presley starring as a wildcatting, island-hopping helicopter pilot in Hawaii.

BOB HOPE COMEDY SPECIAL at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 has as Bob's guests Jimmy Durante, Jack Jones, Phyllis Diller, Kaye Stevens and the comedy team of Rowan and Martin.

THURSDAY

CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 screens "The Apartment," starring Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine and Fred MacMurray in this tender romantic comedy about a business machines operator who endeavors to advance himself with department heads by lending them the key to his bachelor apartment. DEAN MARTIN's guests at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 include Rosemary Clooney, Buddy Hackett, David Steinberg, and Minnie Pearl.

FRIDAY

CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 screens "The Man Who Shot Liberty Vance," starring James Stewart, John Wayne, and Lee Marvin, with Vera Miles.

BELL TELEPHONE HOUR premieres at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12. The first program is "The Many Faces of Romeo and Juliet," four classic versions of Shakespeare's tale of the ill-fated lovers. Performers include Jason Robards, Claire Bloom (theater); Sando Konya, Anna Moffo (opera); Erik Bruhn and Carla Fracci (ballet); Larry Kert, Carol Lawrence (musical theater).

TV TEE-HEES

"Frankly, while we have no objections to hiring women pollsters, we hesitate to subject them to the language used by the majority of pollees!"

TE LA DI O

WEEK'S PREVIEW

Although there are no "specials" listed for the coming week, there are several new shows premiering, notably on the NBC-TV network, and there are several good movies scheduled, also. There's enough variety to keep you consulting your TMO TV schedule and Dial Spinners or the daily TV highlights. Sportswise, you'll find a major league baseball game Saturday plus Saturday and Sunday football games. The latter include Notre Dame football, AFL and NFL games, and college football.

Also, there's a heavyweight boxing bout on Wide World of Sports Saturday afternoon. Sorry, no golf tournaments this weekend.

THE CRITICS SAY

Television editors and commentators for newspapers across the nation always have interesting comments to make about new season entries. It's still a little early for clear-cut analysis, but here are some of the comments on several new shows.

Garrison's Gorillas: ought to be big with teenagers and adults with arrested development; about as exceptional as the latest neighborhood disorder; falls into a category that pleases its special audience and doesn't worry much about anyone else; very likely to be the season's first popular hit; ABC has taken the hackneyed and made it trite; a kind of "Hooligan's Heroes", another bad year for Germans. . . and grownups; chance of success very good; could satisfy the appetites of both war and spy fans.

N.Y.P.D.: a cross between Dragnet and Felony Squad and maybe the best of the three; a good show in its own right; a sick show about sick people on an increasingly sick network; pretty dull going; it is a five-star winner, excellent; pretty dull going; has the makings of a good action series.

Good Morning World: the only laugh turned up on the sound track; Billy De Wolf may walk off with the comedy honors; as soon as this series gets around to focusing on Billy De Wolf the better; action and the laughter come to life when Billy De Wolf is on camera; if one enjoys situation comedy this is a good show; witless, wordy and dull; the makings of a good situation comedy; it has a better than ever chance of attracting a youthful following.

Legend of Custer: could become a hit; all the plot cliches of TV westerns; empty-headed pulp fiction; one would have to root for the Indians on this one; viewers may wonder if it isn't time to give the Indians their chance; characterization was nil, dialogue worse, and interest in the whole engagement less; a fast-paced, consistently entertaining hour of cavalry-and-Indians; the action is excellent and the performance of Wayne Maunder rather good.

Second Hundred Years: simply one more switch on Beverly Hillsbillies; the best thing is that it's only a half-hour long; if you can believe Bewitched and I Dream of Jeannie you can believe this one; frothy nonsense; old sight gags, silly dialogue, tried and tired situations; looked like a comparatively short-lived venture; apparently will opt for obvious gags; may become one of the season's comedy hits.

He and She: sophisticated comedy, subtle throwaway lines and a touch of slapstick are blended skillfully in this highly entertaining series; CBS uncorked another funny one; pure farce, but some of it screamingly funny; one of the season's certain successes; attractive people do not a comedy make; should spell "hit".

Dundee and the Culhane: for fleeting moments a note of attractive difference was imparted by John Mills to an otherwise determinedly conventional western drama; has problems but it may have a future; John Mills is the single redeeming quality; standard shot-em-up stuff; beautiful scenery, vivid players and enough violent episodes to satisfy the most confirmed sadist; long on acting but short on plot and storyline.

COMPUTER OPINIONS

A leading advertising agency has conducted a computer analysis of the new television season and predicts a high mortality rate among the new shows. The agency said about one out of five new shows will perhaps rate high enough to succeed, that about seven of the 26 new shows will die, and that 14 of the 26 will fall somewhere in the middle.

According to the analysis by computer, the probable ratings winners will be Garrison's Gorillas, Good Morning World, He and She, The High Chaparral, Ironside.

On the flop side, predictions include Carol Burnett, Jerry Lewis, Second Hundred Years, Dundee and the Culhane, Good Company, Hondo, and Mothers-in-Law.

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

TEMPTATION, a panel game series, and How's Your Mother-in-Law? are two new ABC daytime shows scheduled to start Oct. 2.

THE FLYING NUN struck out Damn Yankees on Sept. 7. The new ABC series had a rating of 54.3 and the special re-run of Damn Yankees earned only 12.7.

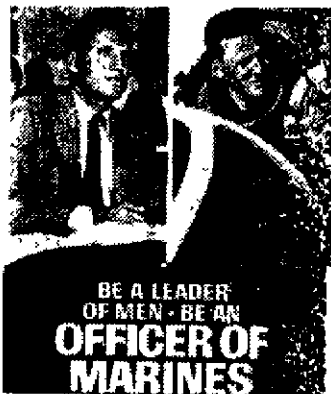

THE JOE PYNE SHOW will be carried by Ch. 6 (WJAC, Johnstown) on Saturday nights from 11:45 to 1:15 a.m.

LOOK FOR THE STARS during the week of Sunday, Oct. 1 through Saturday Oct. 7 when NBC-TV will guest star in more than a dozen programs over fifty leading show business personalities.

THE APOLLO 4 MISSION, scheduled to take place during the week of Oct. 16, will be televised during the launching period. Launching of the largest space rocket in the U.S. program designed to carry astronauts to the moon will take place from the new John F. Kennedy Space Center on Merritt Island.

OUR ENDANGERED WILD-LIFE, first in the American Profile series on NBC, will be televised Friday, Sept. 29 and narrated by Ed Dodd, creator of the "Mark Trail" adventure-cartoon strip.

GENE RAYBURN, host of NBC-TV's "Match Game" series will be substitute host for Johnny Carson on the Tonight Show the week of Sept. 18-22, while Johnny is on vacation. On Monday, Sept. 25, and for the following two weeks, the Tonight Show will originate in Burbank, Calif.

TOP

WILLIAMSON

Are viewers "set on fire" by TV specials? The answer is no. When TV programs delight viewers, we receive avalanches of votes and letters. In contrast, the following summer specials produced only a dribble (CBS's highly touted "Warren Report" lost to ABC's "Nurses"):

Nurses-Crisis in Medicine, ABC, 63.0%, good

The Warren Report, CBS,
60.7%, good.

Hit the Surf, ABC, 59.5%, above average.

The Learning Process,
NBC, 58.3%, above average.

Today, in our nationwide newspaper TV survey, we vote on NBC's "sneak pre-views." These may or may not later be developed into full fledged programs, depending on viewers' reactions. Therefore, be sure to register your opinions in today's box for those you saw.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: My husband worked for Paramount studios and I for MGM for years. We wonder if all script writers, directors, producers, and especially, sponsors, are LSD users? Or psychos?
Really, they insult viewers.
Maybe I'm old-hat, but give me a Gable, a Cooper, etc.!

Anne L. Ayers, Memphis, Tenn.

Dear TV, I'm one who used to pride myself on not watching TV. But now I evaluate my reactions more honestly:
1. TV and movies are better than ever! 2. Although TV needs improvement, it is marvelous company: informative, funny, entertaining. And what other company can one shut up so effectively when it becomes a bore? — Greta Eke-line Fynsk, Wilmington, Del.

Dear TV, I have thoroughly enjoyed daytime "Let's Make a Deal." The night-time version was even better. I hope NBC will place it in their fall lineup if a new show flops.
Brian Ware, Orlando, Fla.

Dear TV: I would enjoy many so-called "comedies" if it wasn't for the ridiculous laughing in the background. I do not mind some applause, but deliver me from that laced-in laughing. I simply will not watch a show that has it. — N. W. Harlowton, Mont.

Dear TV: My children are in bed by 8 P.M., but shows children like are slated 7:30 to 8:30. More children's programs should be scheduled earlier. — C. C. Northboro, Mass.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—When you depend on someone and he falls you, you know how you feel. Don't YOU put another in this spot. There's a tendency now to slough off obligations, fall in keeping promises.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—A good day for reviewing the recent past—both its successes and its failures. In this way you can pinpoint errors, prevent their recurrence.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Confronted with some new tactics or unexpected opposition, you may be somewhat taken aback. Don't be dismayed. Meet, cope with all situations with your innate dexterity and good judgment.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—If you can be the go-between who succeeds in bringing about better understanding, by all means do so. It will help you to be counted among day's winners.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Some old methods can be improved upon, reused profitably. But new ones should be given a fair chance, too. Just don't be over-anxious about results.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Realize that you can't please everyone all the time, but don't use this as an excuse to drop projects in which you are presently engaged or let work matters slide. Be steadfast in your efforts.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Note Virgo. Though your influences are similar, you will be more highly stimulated than the Virgoan, but both of you can profit through more study and consistency of effort.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—When a good thought or a better solution to a problem comes to mind, or is proffered by another, grasp it with your usual enthusiasm and mold it to your purposes.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—There is a river of bright ideas and opportunities flowing past you: Look quickly but well—and net those which can enhance your stature.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—By using your ingenuity and progressive instincts properly, you can not only make fine advancement, but can push others of less power and courage into amazingly successful action. But be discreet in the doing!

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—What look like good "bargains" may be offered now. But investigate thoroughly—and with an eye toward the future. Some should be rejected, as you will find; others worth the investment of your time and/or money.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Versatility you have, and versatility is what you will need this day, if you would capitalize on all the opportunities offered.

YOU BORN TODAY are a talented, personable somebody with a great deal of warmth for friends and a willingness to struggle against many odds for loved ones. You contribute in many ways to a gathering, business-wise or in pleasure. Your appreciation of art and home-making is strong. Give your fine mentality room and reason to expand, explore.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1967 By The Chicago Tribune

IRRITABLE BOWEL

Irritable or spastic colon is the most common cause of abdominal distress. Although the condition occurs in all walks of life, it is more prevalent among executives, secretaries and other over-conscientious workers. It never kills or disables but affects productivity, interest, and capability.

The large intestine is a hollow tube with a wall made up of circular muscles. When these muscular rings work in unison, the intestinal contents are propelled toward the rectum. Pain ensues when the contractions are too forceful or when a gas pocket distends the intestinal wall.

Nothing can be done about these spasms because we have no control over the behavior of this part of our anatomy. The intestinal nerves were suitable for primitive man but the pressures of civilization have outdated them. Emotions such as anxiety, fear, or resentment, create internal tension upon these nerves. This mechanism put primitive man on guard against danger but we have no need to be forewarned in this manner. Instead we complain of butterflies in the stomach, rumbling noises, or inward nervousness.

Many with irritable colon blame diet rather than their work or emotions. Fresh fruits, seeds, skins, harsh and dried foods, cabbage, and beans usually head the list along this line. But irritation from food is insignificant compared with the effect produced by nervous tension, resentment, depression, anxiety, overfatigue, and a sense of guilt.

Too much coffee, tea, tobacco, colas, and alcohol stimulate the bowel nerves and produce spasms in much the same way as do the emotions. Abdominal cramping is the most common reaction, followed by constipation, diarrhea, belching, or gas. Symptoms come and go throughout the day. They may disappear for weeks or months only to return in stressful periods.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

KNOBMY FINGERS

Mrs. L. W. writes: I'm getting ugly, painful knobs on my fingers. Does this description sound like arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, osteoarthritis. These lesions are called Heberden's nodes. The painful aspect usually disappears within six months although the deformity generally persists. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disorder.

AMAZING PROPORTIONS

C.N.Z. writes: What were the dimensions of the tallest and heaviest women known to medical history?

REPLY

The tallest woman I have read about was Miss Marion, billed as the Queen of the Amazons. At age 18, she stood 8 feet 1/4 inch in her stocking feet. A Baltimore woman of 850 pounds seems to hold the record for heftiness.

GARLIC BREATH

H.F.Y. writes: What causes a garlic smell on people's breath? I have to deal with the public and find this condition quite annoying.

REPLY

Garlic. This substance is absorbed by the blood and eliminated as a gas through the respiratory passageways.

MONGOLOID CHILDREN

Mrs. B. writes: Can a Mongoloid child learn anything?

REPLY

Mongoloids are classed as imbeciles, but if the child is a high-grade imbecile he may be able to learn to dress and feed himself and do simple household chores.

Breakfast Briefs

Charge Filed

A hit and run charge has been filed against a Clarendon man following a traffic mishap which occurred Sept. 5.

Borough police said a car driven by Robert Lee Campbell, 23, of 222 Main st., Clarendon, struck a tree and cut up the yard at 209 Alexander st. and left the scene.

Key Was Missing

For want of a key a bus taking 36 European students to Buffalo, N.Y. was delayed 20 minutes in its departure from Meadville. One of the host families had stowed its guest student's luggage in the trunk of the car and dropped the keys in the trunk before closing the lid.

tight. As the bus waited at the YMCA, several well-meaning bystanders tried in vain to open the trunk. Key man Louis Mason was summoned to pick the lock professionally.

Just a Joke

A Meadville matron was visibly shocked when she saw a Crawford County commissioner at the rear of the county prison with his hands handcuffed behind his back. The commissioner explained he dared a deputy sheriff to try to put the cuffs on him. The deputy swiftly accepted the challenge. The matron in question was not enlightened after she happened to drive past.

Local Doctors To Attend State Meeting

HARRISBURG — Two Warren County medical doctors will attend the 118th annual session of the Pennsylvania Medical Society in Philadelphia, September 27 through September 30, to serve as members of the House of Delegates, a body comparable in function with the State Legislature.

Warren County delegates are Drs. Ross E. Bryan, Warren; and Harold S. Reinhard, North Warren. These doctors will help shape the future of the organization of over 12,000 Pennsylvania physicians by electing officers, acting on resolutions and determining the policies of the state society. Their actions will involve matters affecting the standard of health care in the state.

The first meeting of the House of Delegates will begin at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, September 27, in session headquarters at the Bellevue Stratford. Scientific teaching sessions, open to all Pennsylvania medical doctors will begin the morning of the same day at the Sheraton Hotel.

The general theme of the teaching institute is "Therapeutic for the Practicing Physician." Seminars, luncheon conferences, courses in clinical application, fireside conferences and unique technical exhibits will be presented. The programs conducted by some of the nation's leading physicians and medical educators are designed to bring the latest proven medical developments to your physician.

Warren Library to Hold Annual Meeting Monday

The annual meeting of the Warren Library Association will be held on Monday, September 18, at 8 p. m. in the main reading room of the Warren Public Library. All members of the association are urged to attend, and a special invitation is extended to all persons interested in the activities of the library.

Mrs. Georgia S. Coyle, library director, will present her annual report to the association. Departmental reports will be submitted by Mrs. Elizabeth Archibald, county librarian; Miss Ann Lesser, children's librarian; Miss Mary Elizabeth Allen, reference librarian; Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, acting head of the adult services department; and Miss Charlotte Erickson, head of the cataloging department.

William F. Clinger Jr., president of the association, will conduct the meeting, at which time two members will be elected to the Board of Control. The nominating committee headed by Elmer T. Lundahl, with Ernest C. Miller and W. Beyer Africa, has placed in nomination for election to the Board of Control Miss Dorothy Newell and Mrs. David K. Rice. The responsibility for the management of the library is vested in the Warren Library

Lay Cornerstone At State Hospital

The cornerstone for the multi-million dollar geriatrics complex at Warren State Hospital was laid yesterday in a brief ceremony conducted without benefit of speeches.

The white stone, engraved with the year 1967, was slipped into place by stone masons employed on the vast 700-bed project. Imbedded inside was a sealed lead capsule containing documents pertaining to operations this year at Warren State Hospital.

Agency representatives on hand for the occasion were Dr. John C. Urbatis, assistant superintendent at WSH; Dr. Phillip Schwartz, director of pathology and Dr. John Stolar. Donald Schuler represented the hospital board of trustees, Henry K. Fluck, director of construction, Alva C. Piern, assistant district engineer, General State Authority; Mason Aldrich, John Maue, architects, Celli-Flynn; Georg Unger, William Ivior, president and vice president, Gevyn Construction, general contractor; John Cuddrye, vice president, Steel City Piping; Silas Coon, president, Trica Electric.

Other staff members at the institution witnessed the ceremony as did workers on the job.

Area Planners Meet

A meeting of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission is scheduled today at Shenango Inn in Sharon. County Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen, president of the group, will attend.

LAY CORNERSTONE

Dr. John C. Urbatis, left, assistant superintendent of Warren State Hospital and Dr. Phillip Schwartz, director of pathology, prepare to lay the cornerstone for the hospital's multi-million dollar geriatrics center. Hospital officials said it is impossible to give the precise date of completion and occupancy of the building but will invite public inspection when the time comes. The brief ceremony was held at 1 p.m. yesterday. (Photo by Mansfield)

DURING SIDEWALK DAYS

Plan Voting Machine Demonstration

Anyone interested in becoming better acquainted with how to use a voting machine should plan to visit the League of Women Voters booth during the Sidewalk Festival Days tomorrow and Saturday, on Liberty street near Lester Shoe Store.

The League of Women Voters through the cooperation of the Warren County Commissioners will have a voting machine at the booth and will be demonstrating its use tomorrow (Friday), 10:00 a. m. until 9:00 p.m. and Saturday from 10:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

Also during these time periods, anyone not presently registered to vote in the November election may register at the special registration booth located in the window of the Montgomery Ward's store. The voters this fall will choose county commissioners and other county posts, select delegates to the constitutional convention and elect a state assemblyman to fill the vacancy due to the death of Assemblyman Fuellhart. Citizens should remember that the final day for registering before the election November 7 is Monday, September 18.

Players to Sell Season Tickets

At the Sidewalk Festival tomorrow and Saturday a $5 bill will assure the purchaser of the tops in good entertainment on four different occasions.

That is the price of a season ticket for Warren Players Club Play Bill for the 1967-68 season. The opening production, now in rehearsal is "South Pacific," to be followed by "The Square Root of Wonderful," "Light Up the Sky" and "Barefoot in the Park."

The Players booth will be located at the corner of Liberty street and Second avenue next to Warren National Bank.

Season tickets may also be secured by calling Mrs. Charles Barrett, 723-5732.

Eye Donor Program Subject Of Warren Lions Club Meet

Members of Warren Lions Club were brought up to date this week on the eye donor program of their sight committee.

Dr. G.F. Chimenti explained, at the Lions weekly luncheon meeting the procedures followed in removing and caring for the eyes of a donor. Chimenti explained that the procedure did not in any way effect the looks of the donor. The eye "enucleations" done at Warren General Hospital are under the supervision of Dr. William Ball.

Following Dr. Chimenti's presentation, Rev. Frederick Kramer explained how the eyes are transported to any designated destination, anywhere in the world, where the corneas are transplanted to give sight to another person. Rev. Kramer also pointed out that not only the cornea is used, but the entire eye may also be used for research purposes to aid in the better understanding and treatment of eye disorders.

This week's program was presented to give the Lions a fresh knowledge of the eye donor program before their annual Daisies Sale at the Warren Sidewalk Festival this week. Lions selling daisies will also be equipped with eye donor cards for anyone wishing to donate their eyes to this program.

The money collected from the daisy sales and from the recent sight seal mail campaign are used by area Lions to finance their programs of helping the blind and those with sight problems.

DISCUSS EYE PROGRAM

Rev. Frederick Kramer, left and Dr. G. F. Chimenti, hold a chart which shows how eyes are removed from donors in the Lions eye donor program. Rev. Kramer and Dr. Chimenti presented an informative program concerning the eye donor program at this week's Lions Club luncheon meeting. (Photo by John Crone)

THE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Bova of 312 Russell street will be observed with an open house on Sunday, September 17, at their residence. The two children of the couple, Mrs. John Hutchinson Jr. and Michael Bova, who are hosts for the affair, invite all relatives, neighbors and friends to attend.

THE 60TH ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING will be observed by the Charles Lobdells of Clarendon this Sunday, September 17. An open reception will be held that afternoon at the home of their youngest daughter, Mrs. Melvin Riggle, 211 S. Main street, Clarendon. Hosts will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Meddock, Mr. and Mrs. George Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Val Papalia, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Riggle. All relatives, neighbors and friends are invited to attend.

A HIGHLIGHT OF WARREN'S AUTUMN SOCIAL SEASON was held on Tuesday evening at a local residence. The unique affair featured a spirited croquet match on the lawn; the guests later dining on delectable Canadian-caught trout and corn on the cob — "Ummmm, delicious beyond words!" so I was told.

DEMOCRATS OF THE YOUNGVILLE—BROKENSTRAW area are to meet Monday at the home of the Ed Maynards, 254 W. Main street, Youngville. All registered Democrats from the area are invited. After the regular meeting refreshments will be served. Mr. Maynard is the Warren County Committeeman for the Youngville area.

S.O.S. ORDER OF THE ARROW—All members of this elite Scout group are requested to attend a workbee at Camp Olmsted this Saturday at 10 a.m. Tents and cots still up from the 3B Area Meet must be taken down and stored. The work should be over by late afternoon. Each one is to bring his own lunch. For transportation make arrangements with other Order of the Arrow members.

MORE MEETINGS TODAY: Zonta Club will begin its fall season with a luncheon meeting at the Blue Manor at 12:15. Arrangements were made by Mrs. Frances Crump, chairman, Mrs. Alberta Jackson, Mrs. Lou Young and Mrs. Virginia Donaldson.

Farranettes are holding their September meeting, too. At 8 p.m. the members will meet in the Northwest Savings and Loan hospitality room.

Then, there's the Kalbfus Rod & Gun Club's annual family picnic at 6:30 p.m.; just bring a tureen and table service. Everything else is provided.

At 8 this evening, the Bethel Fleming Circle of Epworth Methodist Church is meeting in the church parlors. Mrs. John Nordstrom is the hostess.

WCTU meets at 1 p.m. in Dunham Parlors of First Methodist Church. Mrs. Harold Richael is the program leader. Luncheon hostesses are Mrs. John McInturff, Mrs. John Mallory and Mrs. Ruth Ristau.

Hints From Heloise

Budget Saver

DEAR HELOISE
To save on our budget and when we don't have time to take our small boys to the barber we trim their hair above their ears so they will look nice for a special occasion. This partial trim looks fine until we can get them to the barber for regular haircuts.

Being afraid of poking them with the sharp points of the scissors I found that wrapping each point with adhesive tape does away with the danger of sticking the child while trimming his hair.
Mother of Two Boys

DEAR HELOISE
A few years ago, while brushing my teeth, I noticed that last trace of lipstick, which is so hard to remove, had disappeared.

Now I use toothpaste all the time to remove lipstick from my lips. It also tastes good too.

Recently when my two-year-old came in with lipstick all over her face, I had the answer. I put a dab of toothpaste on a wash cloth and the lipstick was gone in seconds with no painful scrubbing on my baby's tender skin.
Marta Hollis

DEAR MARTI:
I can't figure out why in the world this works but it does. I put lipstick on the back of my hand and then rubbed it with some toothpaste and it came right off. After all, if it's tender enough for gums, it shouldn't hurt our skin.

Thank you from, not only me, but all our mothers who have little kiddies who get into our lipstick...
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE
I use shampoos and cream rinses that come in pliable plastic containers. After the tube is empty I find there is usually enough lotion clinging to the sides for two more shampoos!

Rather than slowly squeeze the lotion out through the tiny opening I take my scissors and snip the container through the middle use what I need and then stick the top half into the lower half until the next shampoo.

Of course the container is shorter but it will not stop open. There is no waste at all.

On the following shampoo open the container put it in a glass and pour hot water over it. Then let it sit a while.

This way you get out every iota of the contents, and it's enough for another shampoo.

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows In St. James Church

Carol A. Pollaro and Gerald E. Engman exchanged wedding vows in St. James Roman Catholic Church, Jamestown, N.Y., on Saturday, September 9. The Rev. Father Valentine F. Weiler read the double ring wedding rites in the presence of two hundred and fifty guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris N. Pollaro of 11 Crown street, Jamestown, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Engman of 3 Alexander street, Warren.

Wedding music was provided by vocal soloist Mrs. Albert D'Inero, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Samuel Cushman was at the organ. Matching baskets of all white gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned the altar of the church.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a tier skirted gown of rose point lace fashioned in Antebellum style with fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves, Sabrina neckline. The graceful fullness of the skirt swept into a chapel train. The gown was highlighted with iridescent sequins. Silk organza roses accented with seed pearls and aurora borealis crystals secured her bouffant veil of imported French illusion. She carried a cascade of carnations. She also carried an heirloom handkerchief edged in taffing made by her aunt, the late Mrs. Charles Ippolito.

The maid of honor, Miss Diane Croglia of Buffalo, N.Y., a cousin of the bride, was in oyster white crepe with moss green velvet contrasts and touches of gold satin. A gold satin Dior bow was her head-dress. Crowned identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Cindy Bond of Albion, a cousin of the bride, and the junior bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Lamp, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Sandra Pollaro, sister of the bride. They were costumed similarly. The maid of honor carried a bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums with fern, and green velvet streamers, while the other attendants had colonial bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums with fern and green velvet streamers.

The best man was Douglas Irvine of Warren, and ushers were David Reagle, Richard Carlson, both of Warren, Robert Talbot, a cousin of the bride, from Jamestown.

A reception was held at the Ross Grange Hall for five hundred guests. Aides were Mrs. J. Adams, Miss Irene Stohl, Mrs. R. Lamp, Mrs. C. Johnson, Mrs. T. Fazio Jr., Miss Carol Griffin, Miss Myrna Sixbey of Jamestown, Mrs. D. Reagle of Warren, Miss Linda Croglia of Buffalo and Miss Joyce Ippolito of Chicago.

The newlyweds' residence, upon returning from a honeymoon in southern Pennsylvania, is at 101 Jackson street, North Warren.

The bride is a graduate of Jamestown High School, class of 1963, and the groom is a 1961 graduate of Warren Area High School and the Jean Barber College. He is employed at Farr's barbershop.

Sidewalk Art Show This Saturday

The Warren Art League will hold its annual Sidewalk Art Show on the Warren County Courthouse lawn on Saturday September 23. The sale will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until members pick up their paintings at 5 p.m. In case of rain, the entire show will be moved indoors and set up in the courthouse corridor.

All paintings and sculpture on display will be for sale. Some of the items will be handpainted baskets, paper dresses, stone "bugs", handpainted flower pots, art term dictionaries, Art League notepaper and also a huge variety of original paintings in all media by local artists. This offers an opportunity for early Christmas shopping.

Many of the artists will be on hand during the day and will answer any questions concerning any of the paintings.

Mrs. Myron Jewell is this year's chairman. Those on her committee are Mrs. Lorraine Belz, Mrs. Catherine Robertson, Mr. Alfred Hulse, Mrs. Nancy Siliano, Mrs. Patricia Bateski, Mrs. Betty Ford, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mr. James Blyler and Mr. Clarence Pearson.

Exhibitors must be members of the Warren Art League and are asked to bring all paintings and sculpture before 9 a.m. and to pick them up by 5 o'clock.

Music has been added this year to add to the pleasant atmosphere pervading the picturesque setting.

Young Mothers Study Club Meets Prospective Members

The Young Mother's Study Club of Warren held its first meeting of the season at 8:00 on September 11 at the home of the president, Mrs. John O'Neill on 4, 2nd avenue. It was a get-acquainted meeting for prospective members; all new members are invited to join only in September and January.

The Young Mother's Study Club is the oldest mother's club in Warren having been in existence since 1941.

The evening's speaker was Mrs. David Potter, author of children's stories. Mrs. Potter gave the background material for the writing and publishing of her books Copperfield Summer and Milepost 67. This included clever anecdotes and colloquial differences between the American and English versions. Mrs. Potter concluded her unique and fascinating program by asking the audience to write an ending to a picture story which she passed around.

Assisting the hostess for the serving of refreshments was Mrs. Charles Mahood and Mrs. Robert Lubbert.

The next meeting will be held on October 9 at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. Edward Burns to hear Mr. Robert Hammerbeck speak on "Aqua Tots".

New Y-Teens Director

Mrs. Marjorie B. Branch, executive director, and Mrs. James C. Miller, chairman of the personnel committee of the Young Women's Christian Association, announce the appointment of Miss Carolyn J. Schaeffer as the new teenage program director, succeeding Mrs. Donna Pingrey.

Miss Schaeffer, a resident of Buffalo, is a graduate of the Buffalo State University College in June of 1965, with a Bachelor of Science degree. During the two years since her graduation she has been employed as a teacher in the elementary schools of Depew, New York, but has also had considerable experience as a camp counselor during summer months. During the season just concluded the new Y-Teens director has been employed as assistant camp director by Girl Scout Camp Seven Hills at Holland, New York.

Miss Schaeffer brings to her new position a lively interest in a number of sports activities, considerable ability in the area of arts and crafts, and a wide and successful experience in working with young people.

The new director assumed her duties at the YWCA on Monday, September 11, and members of the board of directors, of which Mrs. Donald H. Spencer is president, feel very fortunate to be able to add this well qualified young woman to their professional staff.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I married young, I was 16 and Ted was 20. We were very happy for the first two years. We had a child whom we both wanted and we love her very much.

Last year when I was pregnant with a second baby Ted became involved with a 16-year-old tramp. When I learned of the affair, he promised he would stop seeing her and he kept his word. I had a very difficult pregnancy, however, and the baby was born with a birth defect. My doctor said the defect was due to the emotional strain which I suffered while carrying the child.

I have tried to forgive Ted, but I can't seem to do it. Whenever I look at the baby I blame him all over again. Please help me get over hating my husband, I am making my life miserable, and his as well. —BITTER WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: I have checked with physicians in Chicago, Washington and Boston and all three say it would be impossible to state for certain that the birth defect was due to emotional upset during pregnancy. So, in the interest of fairness, stop blaming your husband.

You might also do that doctor a favor and suggest that he do some serious investigating in the field of birth defects so that he doesn't continue to cause unnecessary anguish to other mothers who may have defective babies.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl 15 and have been begging my parents for a year to let me have a boy-girl party. Well, they finally said O.K. for my birthday.

The party was last night and I am just sick. One couple wandered off into a bedroom and were necking up a storm when my mother walked in on them. She told them to get out of the bedroom and to join the others. They were so embarrassed they left without saying good-bye.

This morning my mother tore into me like it was my fault or something. I really feel awful. This couple has been going steady for ages and it is not my business what they do but I think they had some nerve to make out in our home. Now my mother says I can't have any more boy-girl parties for a year. Is this fair? —INNOCENT VICTIM OF OVERSEXED FRIENDS

DEAR VIC: Your mother should not hold you responsible for the conduct of your friends. I do feel that you should let this couple know that you are keenly disappointed in them, and if your mother should reconsider and give you another chance, chop the love-birds off your next party list.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused by the letter from the California woman who resented being called "Doll" by the butcher, "Honey" by the gas station attendant, "Sweetheart" by the parking lot fellow and "Sugar" by the postman.

In London the women are called "Ducky" while in the northern provinces it is "Luv." My favorite pet name for the ladies is one which originated in Scotland, however, it is "Hen." How do you think that one would go over in the U. S., Ann? —R.D.C., OF VANCOUVER

DEAR VAN: Don't try it, Chick, yes, . . . but Hen—never!

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Fitzgerald of 163 West Main street, Youngsville, were honored on their Silver Wedding Anniversary by an open house. Hosts for the affair were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. James Danuski of Jamestown, N.Y.

About seventy-five guests were greeted at the National Forge Clubhouse where the open house was held. Mrs. Fitzgerald wore a sleeveless sheath with a rolled stand up collar and had a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. Mr. Fitzgerald had a boutonniere for his lapel. The former Miss Carolyn Ann Horner and Paul Wayne Fitzgerald were married on August 29, 1942, in Covington, Kentucky.

A four tier anniversary cake was cut by Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Garland, while Mrs. Paul Nicklas of Irvine poured coffee and presided at the punch-bowl.

If the Shoe Fits...

James R. Valone

Foot-saving Education

Is it possible for a child to outgrow a pair of shoes within three weeks!

Yes, it is possible and it happens frequently, but the growth is not true growth during that short period.

When a child's old shoes are too short, the child will unconsciously draw up his arch to keep his toes from bumping the ends of the shoes. Drawing up the arch shortens the foot! Try it.

Suppose the old shoes were size 7 and he now measures for size 8. An 8 shoe in the proper width will permit him to relax his foot and when the foot settles back to normal, it may measure 8 1/2 to 9. The new 8's are outgrown and the shoe catches a headache because the parents allowed the child to wear 7's when he needed 8's. If the shoe attempts to anticipate this settling process and fits the shoes a half size too long, it invariably turns out that this child has a natural "bitch" foot that doesn't care to settle. The shoes turn up in front like skis, they look like some neighbor gave you, and they are worn out before the child grows into them. You can't win.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ South obtained extra mileage out of the trump suit in his six heart contract. By cashing out the hearts at the key stage of the deal, he compelled West to make a fatal discard.

West opened the jack of spades, the three was played from dummy, East covered with the queen and South won the trick with the king.

The ace of hearts was cashed, followed by a small heart to the nine, to draw the adverse trumps which divided evenly. Next came the three top diamonds—South discarding a spade on the third round. If the suit were divided no worse than four-two, it was declarer's intention to ruff out a diamond and thereby establish dummy's long card for his 12th trick.

When West showed out on the second diamond lead, South was obliged to revise his plans. He was convinced from the vulnerable one spade overall that West held the ace of clubs, and that leading up to the king was a hopeless course. However, with his opponent marked for length in spades it might become difficult for him to retain all of his assets, if he were subjected to the pressure of making several discards.

South overtook dummy's queen of hearts with the king and proceeded to run the entire suit. West, who had discarded two spades on the second and third diamonds, was obliged to make four more discards as the hearts were led. He was able to give up one more spade and the eight and nine of clubs without inconvenience.

On the last heart, West was down to the ten-nine of spades and the ace-queen of clubs, while dummy held the ace-four of spades and the seven-deuce of clubs. In order to protect the spade suit, West was obliged to shed the queen of clubs, so South discarded North's four of spades. The six of clubs was led and West played the ace. Dummy won the spade return and declarer's king of clubs took the fulfilling trick.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Planetary influences indicate some pressure in business matters, but remain steadfast and hopeful. You CAN make some advancement. Your personal affairs promise to be interesting.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Break your day down to the definite essentials and earmark activities to be eliminated. Avoid untoward action, impatience, hasty judgments.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Consider activities of the past few days. Have you acted too hastily in some matters? Have you turned over ALL the stones for hidden treasures? You can retrace some steps profitably now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—You have access to more than one route. If the going is "rough" on one, take another. And dig deep for valuable findings!

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Return a compliment, a favor—especially in barren areas. You can inspire new hope in others, lead them to brighter paths.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Compensation for past efforts in the office. Be patient, and don't become overanxious. Do not become a loser through disenchantment with "things as they are."

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Meet, discuss and work out with others the very best avenue possible to give all their due—and some choice "extras," besides.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—"Retreat" is a word which is not usually found in your vocabulary, but it could be used strategically, now, to re-inforce strength, improve tactics.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Don't find mystery where there is none, and don't fear the outcomes of enterprises which you have not given a fair chance to prove themselves. A better day than you may think at first.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Influences urge steadiness, a calm demeanor, waiting until the time is ripe for certain moves which should NOT be taken yet.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—If you began the week with system and knew what you were about, you can step up tempo now. But DO watch for small pitfalls that make big traps.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Your talents will be called upon a-plenty now. In fact, you may be busily active both day and night, so try to squeeze in a few moments of rest now and then. Thus you can meet the pace and be up there with the best of them.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually versatile, can handle any number of occupations. Thus, you may not decide upon your life's calling with your first position. Also, it is possible for you to hold one job, pursue a lucrative avocation, and still have time for "extras" which others seem never able to fit into their schedules. Don't push yourself or your associates too hard, however, or anxiety could erupt on all sides. Take time to enjoy the "little things" in life.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

EXERCISE FOLLOWING A CORONARY

The trend is to encourage persons with angina pectoris and those who have recovered from a heart attack to exercise more. No conclusions have been drawn so physical activity should be done only on the advice of the physician. On the other hand, there are good reasons why graded exercise may be beneficial.

Each coronary artery is like a tree. It has tiny twigs. The vessels crisscross through the heart muscles carrying blood for nourishment. The needs of the muscle are greatest during exercise. There is no apparent distress so long as the vessels supply the muscle with all the blood it requires.

But the coronary arteries are man's Achilles' heel; they are susceptible to arteriosclerosis and when the arterial walls thicken the flow of blood is reduced. Angina pectoris (chest pain) ensues when the flow is adequate at rest, but not during exertion. The conventional heart attack takes place when the flow is so sluggish that the blood clots and the vessel is occluded (coronary thrombosis).

Exercise enters the picture because of a phenomenon known as collateral circulation. When an artery is occluded, new channels bridge the obstruction in an attempt to supply the poorly-nourished muscle with more blood. This process is stimulated by need for blood, which is greatest during exertion.

Exercise is desirable after the heart heals in an effort to promote collateral circulation. English researchers conducted a 24-week exercise program on eight men who recovered from a heart attack. Weight was lost and muscular endurance was improved. It was not determined whether new collateral circulation developed. Mood improvement occurred in all. The men felt more confident and less anxious about their condition.

TOMORROW: Tendency to Diabetes.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Mrs. L. writes: Can children develop kidney trouble?

REPLY: Yes; two-thirds of all cases of glomerulonephritis occur in children. This disease usually is preceded by strep throat or scarlet fever. It is suspected whenever a youngster with such an infection develops puffiness of the face and passes small amounts of dark, concentrated urine.

COBALT BOMB

E. E. writes: What kind of cancer does the cobalt bomb cure?

REPLY: The same cancers that are cured with X-ray or radium. The cobalt bomb is more powerful and easier to handle in equivalent dosage than are other ray producers.

ACID ALLERGY

F.M. writes: Is there such a thing as acid allergy that makes the skin break out in a rash?

REPLY: Not to my knowledge. Physicians never blame a skin rash on too much acidity in the system.

TOP VIEW

By CLARKE WILLIAMSON

According to TOP VIEW voting on daytime serials, "Another World" has a solid foundation in viewers' esteem. This is the result of the last ballot on daytime serials:

Another World, NBC, 74.0%, very good.

General Hospital, ABC, 64.9%, good.

Guiding Light, CBS, 61.8%, good.

Nurses, ABC, 53.0%, average.

Do you mind having your favorite evening programs removed for football, baseball, or other sports? If enough readers write to request it, we will have a vote on the subject.

Our next ballot box in our nationwide newspaper survey appears this coming weekend. We ask you to vote then and throughout the season so that results will reveal exactly what viewers think of the programs shown by the major networks.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: There has never been a serial on any TV program as good as "Another World", and it is watched and enjoyed by more people than any one program that has ever been shown. — Mrs. Vera Stigall, Camden, Tenn.

Dear TV: Soap operas should be taken off and more programs like "Jeopardy," "Match Game," "Password" substituted which help to improve the mind and are just as entertaining. Soap operas overload the networks. Also characterization is over-dramatized and parts overacted. — Duane Henniger, Rapid City, S.D.

Dear TV: Jim Nabors' "special" the past season was real entertainment; so he spends the rest of his year talking like an idiot and giving children something to imitate. Wouldn't it be better if he used his very fine voice? — Mrs. Wm. Burckhardt, Pittsfield, Mass.

Dear TV: If my TV goes out I won't spend money to repair it. They are showing movies that are older than TV itself. If this is what sponsors want then we should leave their products on the merchants' shelves. — Leland Tullis, Titusville, Fla.

Dear TV: When we pay hundreds of dollars for sets, we expect manufacturers to chip in more than they do. I don't want any cutting into programs for even a minute of stupid, exaggerated and deceitful advertising. Five or six minutes after, I'll manage to suffer through. — Mr. Rene A. Wurzel, Tucson, Ariz.

Dear TV: Whatever happened to Frankenstein? It was an excellent late TV soap. One could doze while watching and dream that old Frank was operating on a TV or radio announcer. — Walker Arnold, Nashville, Tenn.

Sanford-Grand Valley Notes

By LILY GABER
The Grand Valley church was filled to capacity Sunday night when Gary Ongley, a grandson of Benton Vanguilder and Charlie Ongley, spoke on their trip to Central America this summer. The boys went out mostly in twos. The language barrier was quite a problem with them for they knew very little Spanish. The insects were also another problem.
He also said the Peace Corps was doing a fine job. Many of the people have no education and live in terrible conditions.
Miss Barbara Danielson left Sunday for Oil City where she will be attending the Venango off-campus.
Mrs. Alice Dawson of Falconer, N.Y. spent from Wednesday to Monday with her sisters Mrs. Clara Pierce and Mrs. Charlie Ongley.
Harold Holcomb was taken to the Warren General Hospital Saturday morning. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.
Mrs. Kathy Smith and baby were brought to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Holcomb on Friday. Her husband had to leave Monday for his school. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Any body seen Charlie? He either wandered off or was stolen on Friday evening. Charlie is a little black and white rat terrier dog and is loved by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Holcomb and Kathy. Callers at the Holcomb home Sunday was Mr. and Mrs. George Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. Gretchen Marker all of Warren.
Eldred Grange 467 is honoring their 50 year members on Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the Grange Hall. All members and friends are welcome. Cake and coffee will be furnished. Ladies please bring sandwiches. The following will be receiving their 50th year certificates: Mitty Ongley, Clara Pierce, Clark Beers, Pearl Brown and Leta Meabon.

Miss Bonnie Jean Bristol of Ocean Side, L.I. was Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds. Her father took her to Mansfield, Pa. where she is attending the state college. This is her second year.
Mr. and Mrs. David Stumpf and children of Pittsburgh spent the weekend with Mrs. Stumpf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allen.
Mr. and Mrs. Illo Scott and Charles were in Erie Tuesday for Mr. Scott's check-up.
Mrs. Alice Ryckman left Friday to visit friends in Mead-

Lander Area News

The Lander WSCS held their meeting in the Parish house with 16 members. There was one visitor, Miss Linda Watson, sister of Rev. Watson, who was visiting here enroute to Nyack Missionary College in Nyack, N. Y. Mrs. Donald Ludwick presided at the business following the luncheon served by Mrs. Harry Ludwick and Mrs. Roy Lindell.
The president welcomed the members and read a "Recipe for Making and Keeping Members Fresh." Secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and it was reported that the church pledge was paid to date.
Announcement was made of the Sub-district meeting to be held in the Grace Methodist church in Warren on September 21, from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. The ASCS group dinner to be served Sept. 19, on October 13-14, a retreat at Wesley Woods for all local presidents, vice presidents, secretary of membership cultivation and Spiritual Life secretaries will be held. They will meet at 1:00 p. m. on the 13th and adjourn on the 14th at 3 p. m. Those attending are asked to furnish their own bedding and the cost for meals is $3.75.
It was announced that there is a change in the supply askings — instead of asking for cash for supply work, it will be added to the Pledge for Missions.
It was noted that the WSCS gave an increase of $318,838 for Missions and the total giving for Missionary work was $11,500,000.
Mrs. Stanley Hitchcock gave the devotion and Mrs. Harry Light was in charge of the program.

Guzzle in Japan
TOKYO (AP) — Japan's long hot summer this year gave beer drinkers a record thirst. They consumed 687 million quarts during June, July and August — up 30 per cent from the previous summer — the revenue department said.
Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Light have been Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reed of Cochran, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sarnfield and two sons of Pittsburgh. Airman 1/c Randall Light of Plattsburg AFB, celebrated his 21st birthday while home. He has received his overseas orders and will be stationed at Ching Chan Kang AFB in Taiwan.
Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bergstrom and family visited relatives at Osceola Mills recently.
The Foster Cemetery Society will meet with Mrs. Vincent Mills on Thursday, Sept. 21, at 2:00 p. m.
The benefit dinner sponsored by the Methodist church members and the firemen and auxiliary was very successful and the proceeds have been given to the Merritt Babcock family. Mr. Babcock is critically ill in the Warren General Hospital and his wife and four children are very appreciative of the aid given them.
Miss Linda Mahan, accompanied by her brother Maurice, visited relatives in Philadelphia before he entered Bucknell University at Lewisburg. She returned home by plane on Sunday. She leaves Wednesday for Grove City college to enroll as a sophomore.

Larry Ludwick has been visiting his parents before returning to the University of Illinois. He has had as guests here, Robert Adams, of Melbourne, Australia, who is in the U.S. taking post doctorate work in chemistry, and Dennis Ensley, a student at the university also.
Recent guests of Mrs. Ruth Swanson have been Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fosburg, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fosburg, Sylvia Fosburg, Mrs. Allen Rowley and Dianne Adams.
Mr. and Mrs. Gid Van Orden entertained recently a group who had been in Florida last winter. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ludwick, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Van Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Burgett, also Mr. and Mrs. William Armitage of Corry, and Mrs. Kathrine Francisco of Busti.

Sheffield Area News

Mrs. E. R. Ayres will be the hostess for the Woman's Club meeting Monday evening at 8 p.m. Miss Emma Christian will serve as co-hostess. The topic for the program will be "Today's Challenge — Clean Air, Clean Water." Speaker will be Mrs. Blenda Hinkley.
The Progressive Woman's Club will open the fall season at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert Jones, Cray ave., with co-hostess Mrs. Carl Benson. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hoff will be the speakers on the subject "Each One, Teach One." Serving on the social committee, Mrs. Charles McNeal and Mrs. Robert Sixt.
Meeting at the St. Michael's Hall at 8 p.m. the Junior Woman's Club will begin their new year. The speaker, Reid Pierson will speak on insurance. Mrs. James Rudolph and Mrs. Michael Cashmere will serve refreshments.
The Bethany Lutheran Church women will meet this evening, having as their guests the members of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church. The speaker will be Miss Esther Marshall of DuBois, a returned missionary from Liberia, having as her topic, "Overseas to Serve."
